Deadlock In Berlin Parley
Now AdmittedForeign Ministers May Turn
Paris Talks Over To DeputiesLITTLE HOPE FOR EARLY ACCORD SEENBy KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager I. N. S.)

PARIS, June 8.—Western circles speculated today that the Big Four Foreign Ministers may turn the Paris talks over to their deputies, who would be charged with arranging a trade agreement for east and west Germany.

The possibility was reported after the east-west deadlock in Berlin was acknowledged by both sides at yesterday's non-secret meeting of the ministers.

Resume Discussions

Although the U. S., British, French and Russian delegations resume discussions on Berlin today, little hope is held out by observers for any kind of accord on the divided former German capital.

Thus the ministers may suspend talks at the end of this week and let their deputies take over. If this happens, Secretary of State Dean Acheson will probably return to Washington for consultations. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin left Paris today to attend the Labor party conference at Blackpool, England. His place will be taken at the meetings by Lord Henderson, under-secretary for German affairs. Bevin is expected to return Saturday.

Would Then Resume

It is believed that if the deputies' technical discussions prove fruitful, the foreign ministers would then resume their Paris deliberations. Most Paris circles feel that the trade question is the one

& OBSERVES

Unless Pa Newc is badly mistaken, cutting of hay on a farm along the Volant road has been started, being the first harvesting work of this season to be noted.

Pa Newc notes that the Memorial Rose Garden, planted in the city park across from the Jamestown Memorial hospital, is now in full bloom, and presents a beautiful picture.

Wheat fields around the county indicate that wheat is beginning to turn color, and harvesting may develop earlier than usual this season. The fields appear to be bringing an abundant crop this year.

More and more unpaved streets about the city are receiving applications of oil in order to lay the dust. Several on the east side of the city have recently received the oil treatment.

Numerous of the less hardy plants about the city were covered by some residents over the night due to the coolness of the atmosphere. Temperatures hovered pretty close to the freezing point in some areas of the county.

Carelessness of throwing a banana peel on the sidewalk almost caused one man a broken ankle during the week. It was noted by Pa Newc. The gentleman walking along South Jefferson street received a nasty tumble when he stepped on the peel and sprained his ankle along with the fall.

An odd sight was observed by Pa Newc on Tuesday afternoon on Washington street near Mercer when a young woman was noted driving a large dump truck laden with several tons of soil. The truck hailed from Indiana according to the license tags. The two men accompanying the operator of the vehicle sought directions to Slippery Rock.

President Has Now Selected
Cabinet Team

By ROBERT G. NIXON

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—President Truman virtually has completed his design for a smooth-working cabinet team with selection of Undersecretary Gordon Gray and his new secretary of the Army.

Only one top-ranking cabinet change is now contemplated, and this may be deferred for months to come.

Julius A. "Cap" Krug may leave his post as secretary of the interior for personal reasons. In this event, persons close to the President believe that Undersecretary Oscar Chapman will be stepped up to cabinet rank.

The possibility that Commerce Secretary Sawyer also might leave the cabinet has been rumored in Washington for months. The President still has one top government post to fill. This is the chairmanship of the highly important National Security Resources Board.

No Mandate
On Congress
Declares Taft

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, charged today that the Democrats are attempting to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law for political reasons.

The co-author of the controversial labor regulation declared in a senate speech that "there may be a mandate on the president to request the repeal, but there is certainly no mandate on congress."

Taft recalled that of the present membership of the house a large majority voted in 1947 to override President Truman's veto of the labor law. He added:

"The voters of their districts knowing the position they took on labor legislation, reelected them to congress."

Taft said that a majority of the present senate also overrode the president's 1947 veto and cited the gain in labor votes for Dewey in 1948 over 1944 as further popular support of the Taft-Hartley law.

Fisherman Pays
$150 For 15 Trout

MIFFLINTOWN, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—A Port Royal angler today only had memories of $150 and the 15 over-the-limit trout he took from Juniata county streams.

Hailed before Walnut Justice of the Peace D. C. Teitzell late yesterday was J. M. Kohler, his creel bulging with the extra trout.

Charges were preferred by C. V. Long, Perry-Juniata fish warden and Teitzell fined Kohler $10 for each of the trout in excess of the legal limit of six.

Say Communism
Should Be Taught

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Twenty of the nation's outstanding educators have declared today that Communists should be barred as teachers in American schools but that Communism should be taught to help youths reject all forms of totalitarianism.

The educators group included Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of Columbia University, and James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard. The report was made public by the National Education Association.

Million Dollar
Fire In DanvilleIllinois City Suffers Severe
Loss In Business Center
Blaze This Morning

DANVILLE, Ill., June 8.—(INS)—A million dollar fire swept part of Danville's business center today and raged for more than two hours before being brought under control.

Five fire companies in the city of 50,000 battled to prevent the blaze from wiping out a whole block facing the square in the heart of Danville, 105 miles south of Chicago.

The flames were reported contained about seven o'clock after burning through four two-story brick veneer buildings and destroying part of another.

Hundreds of spectators filled the area surrounding the blazing block after the alarm was sounded at dawn to watch the firemen battle the flames.

About three-quarters of the block was wiped out.

The blaze broke out in the Hicks Laundry and Cleaning Company. It spread rapidly through National Printers & Stationers, the Black Liquor Store and the J & B Grill and burned into the rear of the three-story Gary Department Store building.

The Palmer-American National Bank was endangered but firemen successfully contained the flames before they reached it.

Occupants of three apartments in the destroyed structures fled to safety.

Smoke and sparks from the blazing buildings blanketed the area.

Wheat Futures
Price Skyrockets

CHICAGO, June 8.—(INS)—Wheat futures skyrocketed on the Chicago Board of Trade in heavy early trading today on the heels of an announcement that Agriculture Department has extended its wheat price support loans to grain stored on the ground.

Wheat futures went up nearly nine cents on the Chicago Board of Trade and soared the allowable 10-cent limit at Kansas City.

Trade was so heavy that July wheat covered a range of four and a half cents in opening dealings.

Transport Plane

Aviation HistoryPLANE CRASHED
NEAR SAN JUAN

SAN JUAN, P. R., June 8.—(INS)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration and Puerto Rican officials today probed the off-shore crash of a twin-engine transport plane yesterday in which an estimated 54 persons died.

Official figures said that 54 of the 75 Puerto Rican passengers and crew of six were either dead or missing. But little hope was held that any additional survivors would be found.

Would Be Worst

The figure of 54 would make the disaster the worst in commercial aviation history. Twenty-one bodies have been retrieved thus far.

Jerry Andrews, a member of the Civil Aeronautics board investigating committee, will conduct the inquiry into the watery crash of the C-46 operated by Strato-Freight Inc.

Puerto Rican District Attorney Jose Aponta plans a similar probe. Capt. Lee Wakefield of Stamford, Conn., pilot of the converted troop-carrier, met briefly with CAA officials yesterday but declined any comment until the hearings are started.

Over-Loading Question

The question of over-loading will loom large in the inquiries. A C-46, according to CAA spokesmen, is built to accommodate 40 troops. However, 18 of the 75 passengers aboard the plane were children, and there is a distinct possibility that the legal weight limit of the craft—45,000 pounds—was not exceeded.

The transport, en route to Newark, N. J., from San Juan, was

Report Police
Closing In On One Fugitive

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 8.—(INS)—A posse of state and city police reportedly was closing in today on one of the escaped West Virginia prison fugitives in a thickly wooded area along the Little Kanawha river near Parkersburg.

Searchers said that Gerald Noland, 49, was sighted near a bridge on the Little Kanawha river about two miles from the center of town, but he escaped by crashing through the underbrush.

The spot where he was reported seen is not far from his parents' home, police said.

About 50 heavily armed officers converged on the area and were closing in.

The search yesterday turned to an abandoned coal mine path near Salem, O., where two of the prisoners were reported to have holed up.

'Blue Book Burglar'
Faces Sentences

Combined Sentences Could Keep
Suave Society Burglar Behind
Bars Rest Of Life

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 8.—(INS)—Dapper Gerard Graham Dennis, 29, the "blue book burglar", faced today combined sentences which could keep him behind bars for the rest of his life.

Dennis pleaded guilty yesterday to robbing three fashionable homes in Westchester.

Westchester County Judge Elbert T. Gallagher who had been hearing the case in White Plains remanded Dennis to jail to await sentence. No date was set.

District Attorney George M. Fanelli said he would file information about three previous convictions of Dennis in Canada for assisting at an abortion and breaking into homes.

As a fourth offender, Judge Gallagher could sentence Dennis to serve the 15-year-to-life term consecutively instead of concurrently on each offense.

The penalty may end for good the career of the suave, elegantly tailored society burglar who confessed he stole $357,635 from California homes, $150,000 from Westchester estates and smaller amounts in Canada.

New Charges
Are Presented
By Hickenlooper

By FRANK B. ALLEN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, charged today that the atomic energy commission made radioactive isotopes available to the French national atomic laboratory run by Communist Frederick Joliot-Curie.

Hickenlooper also charged that isotopes were shipped to Norway for use in "very important military research." The Norway shipment, he said, violated presidential policy.

The Iowa contention that once the isotopes leave the United States, this country loses control of their actual use or "destination."

Lilienthal Makes Charges

The latest Hickenlooper charges—made in an attempt to bolster allegations of "incredible mismanagement" of the atomic program by David Lilienthal, came after the AEC chairman accused his critics of "smeared people by innuendo."

Lilienthal demanded a complete airing before the congressional committee of the security file of a commission official identified as "Case A". Lilienthal declared that "the case of Mr. A." should be aired as "an example to the whole country" of creating "fear" through partial information.

Hickenlooper, in an earlier hearing said the official involved in "Case A" was assigned to prepare secret atomic reports despite "deplorable information" filed against him by the FBI.

Official Temperature Shows Mercury Hit Freezing Point Early Today

One of the latest frosts on record locally was noted this morning. Early risers reported that roofs and tops of cars parked outside showed signs of frost early this morning.

No reports of serious frost damage were received at the office of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension association, they stated, but there undoubtedly would be some damage to tender plants, such as tomatoes and peppers.

Another cool night is predicted tonight by the U. S. Weather Bureau, with a possibility of light frosts again.

Arrests Are Reported
In Murder Of Woman
In Pittsburgh Hotel

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—

The son of the president of a large Pittsburgh packing firm today was charged with the beer-bottle murder of a woman whose nude and battered body was found in a room of a Pittsburgh hotel about a month ago.

He is Joseph Yeager, 22, son of Wilbert Yeager, president of the Henry Lohrey Packing Co. in Pittsburgh.

Arrested also on a charge of accessory after the fact of murder was Mary Ashton, 20.

Police said the youth denied the murder but admitted registering at the Palmer Hotel in Pittsburgh with the slain woman, Mrs. James Schleigh, 32, early the morning of May 5.

Held Prisoner
Miss Ashton, who told police she had lived with Yeager for about a year, said she had been held a prisoner by him since he returned home early the morning of the murder with a woman's brown coat, panties, blue brassiere, shoes and a purse and pair of earrings.

She told police he also carried the jagged neck of a beer bottle and that his undershirt was dripping with blood.

Police, acting on Miss Ashton's directions, found the clothes and the neck of the beer bottle in a bag where they had been thrown away. The murder victim's purse and earrings were found in Yeager's home.

The girl told police Yeager had talked to her about the murder, quoting him as saying:

Hit Her With Beer Bottle

"The girl rolled me and I hit her with the beer bottle. She won't do anything."

She added that she had been too frightened to leave the home until yesterday, because Yeager had threatened "to give you what I gave that other girl."

He finally permitted her to leave yesterday, she said, to look for work because their funds were running low. She phoned the landlord, she added, who contacted police.

Miss Ashton told police Yeager's parents, who are estranged, had both helped support him.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—State police today put bloodhounds on the trail of two convicts who escaped from Rockview penitentiary near Bellefonte.

The escaped men, who neared the end of their prison term, walked off the prison farm Tuesday and disappeared, according to prison officials.

They were identified as John Flory, 35, of Centre county, sentenced to serve from two and one-half to five years for perversion, and John R. Evans, 27, of Lawrence county, imprisoned to one to two years for larceny.

Drive Along Hankow-Canton
Railroad In China

CANTON, June 8.—(INS)—Chinese Communists reportedly resumed their southward drive along the vital Hankow-Canton railroad today and drove into northern Hunan province.

The fighting ended a ten-day lull in the fighting in central China.

Gen. Lia Piao, one of the Communists' top troop commanders, reportedly heads the attacking forces, apparently trying to link up with other Communist troops driving westward through Hunan.

Changsha, capital of Hunan province, and a likely meeting point for the two Communist drives, lies 550 miles north of the provisional Nationalist capital at Canton.

Chambers Tells Of Receiving U.S.
Secret Documents

NEW YORK, June 8.—(INS)—Whittaker Chambers, on re-direct examination at the Alger Hiss perjury trial, testified today that he received secret state department documents from Henry Julian Wadleigh from 1935 to 1938.

The self-styled former Communist courier described Wadleigh as an employee of the trades agreement section of the state department.

Previously, Chambers had testified he received many confidential state department documents from Hiss in 1938 for transmission to a Russian spy ring.

Lewis And Steel
Company Parley
Starts Monday

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—John L. Lewis and the U. S. Steel Corporation agreed today to open negotiations for a new soft coal contract next Monday in Philadelphia.

Lewis made the announcement in a letter to Harry M. Moses, president of the H. C. Frick Coke Co., a subsidiary of United States Steel.

It was the first agreement made between Lewis and the 18 operators of the so-called "captive" coal mines, owned by steel companies. U. S. Steel said that its understanding was that the Monday meeting would concern only it and none of the other captive coal mine operators.

Lewis said his union will be represented at the Monday meeting by a five-man bargaining group and did not specify the representation from the corporation.

The UMW's contract with the captive coal mines expires June 30.

Clement Retires
As President
Of Pennsylvania

Will Be Succeeded As President
Of Railroad By Walter S.
Franklin

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—(INS)—Martin W. Clement retired today after 14 years as president of the Pennsylvania Railroad to fill the newly-created post of chairman of the board.

Clement, 67 years old, will be succeeded on June 16 by Walter S. Franklin, executive vice-president. The retiring president is two years over the carrier's voluntary retirement age limit.

The change in leadership of the world's largest railroad was announced at a meeting of the Penns's board of directors.

In its announcement, the board did not fill the post of executive vice-president, made vacant by Franklin's promotion.

It had been reported that the latter position would go to J. M. Symes, vice president in charge of operations.

As chairman of the board, Clement will act in an advisory capacity as a representative of the board and will officiate at meetings. He will also take charge of appointment of committees.

Body Of Woman
Taken From River

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., June 8.—(INS)—The identity of a dark-haired woman whose nearly nude, battered body was hauled from the Mississippi river at Grand Tower was sought by authorities today.

Assistant Chief Edwin Hegler of the Murphysboro police said the condition of the body indicated the woman had met with foul play before her lifeless form was tossed into the river.

She was described as rather heavy and about five feet, six inches tall. She was wearing only one stocking when found.

Teen-age boys swimming in the river discovered the body last night as it floated downstream near a sandbar offshore.

WESTMINSTER COLLEGE
PRESIDENT SPEAKER

Dr. Will W. Orr, president of Westminster College, told members of the New Castle Senior High school graduating class Tuesday night that if they are to reach a desirable "land of somewhere, they must follow a three-fold path, comprised of obedience, work and faith.

Dr. Orr was the Commencement speaker at the exercises held in the Cathedral auditorium. A near-record class, numbering 512, received diplomas. More than 2,600 persons attended.

The college president combined humor and serious thought as his sincere voice appealed directly to the seniors. He urged the graduates to not only know the orders but to obey them, which is the hardest part. "Obedience to the finest, highest and best is the surest way of reaching a desired goal.

Princess May Make Visit To
United States

LONDON, June 8.—(INS)—It may be "westward ho" for several members of Britain's royal family next year, with Princess Margaret Rose leading the cavalcade to the United States and Canada.

No definite decision has been reached.

But court circles believe it probable that Princess Margaret and maybe Princess Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, will make the journey, perhaps next spring.

Because of her close friendship with Sharmar Douglas, pretty daughter of U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas and others of the smart young set of the American embassy, Margaret is known to be most anxious to view America at first hand.

May Not Give Permission
Reliable circles close to the court believe it highly improbable that King George will permit Margaret to go this year, however. She has just returned from a lengthy visit to Italy, France and Switzerland.

Scores of invitations have been sent to the princesses to visit the United States. These never have been declined formally.

Well-informed quarters said that there was more doubt about Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip going than in the case of Princess Margaret.

The young married couple is accepting ever-increasing public responsibilities and deputizing more and more for King George during his convalescence.

Emergency No Problem For Americans Today

Should Depression Come, Americans Better Prepared To Face Business Trends

PHILADELPHIA, June 7—(INS)—Should the depression of 1929 repeat itself or come close, Americans will not likely resort to suicide, according to a noted psychologist.

Dr. Edward M. Westburgh, chief of the psychological service of the Pennsylvania hospital, declared that "people are not so adolescent mentally as they were in 1929."

Dr. Westburgh said that people are beginning to realize that business trends are a mere cycle and that each slump is usually followed by prosperity.

Dr. Westburgh, who was recently acclaimed by the American Psychological association, added that Americans today will "face the facts of life" and prepare themselves in time of emergency.

In the republic of Nicaragua, Central America, the president is elected for six years.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

One of the most successful businessmen of our time made his first big killing in the glove business. In those days, the most expensive gloves were imported from Europe, and the duty was as high as the total cost of manufacture.

As I heard the story, he imported a quarter of a million dollars worth of gloves at one time—but gave peculiar shipping instructions. All the LEFT gloves were consigned to Boston; all the RIGHT ones to New Orleans. When the shipments arrived, nobody claimed them, and in due course, they were auctioned off by the customs authorities with other unclaimed articles. Who on earth wanted a shipment of left gloves? Our hero picked them up in Boston for a fraction of what the duty would have cost. Then his agent did the same with the RIGHT gloves in New Orleans. And thus another great American fortune was founded.

The richest of the Rothschilds was asked, "How did all the members of your family amass such vast fortunes?" The old baron smiled faintly and answered, "By always selling too soon."

Plans Test For Air Raid System

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Secretary of Defense Johnson announced today plans for the most extensive test of the nation's air raid warning system since the war.

Over 26,000 civilian volunteers are slated to take part in "operation lookout" which will be conducted next September in a 10-state east coast area ranging from Portland, Me., to Wilmington, Del. The civilian spotters are to work with military personnel assigned to radar direction stations set up along the eastern seaboard in what Johnson called a "test of long-range emergency air raid defense plans."

Plans for the six-day mock war were worked out by the military establishment and the Office of Civilian Defense Planning, headed by Aubrey H. Mellinger. The actual test will be supervised by the air defense command at the Mitchell air force base, New York.

FRENCH RECOGNIZE STAMP CENTENNIAL

PARIS—(INS)—Tourists interested in philately will be able to view a unique collection when the Centenary Exhibit of French postage stamps opens July 1.

The display will be inaugurated by President Vincent Auriol to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the first French stamp, issued January 1, 1849.

The Post Office Department will put out a series of seven different stamps to mark the event. Among them is an unusual combination—a set of the original 1849 issue reproduced on the same block of paper with a modern set of the same denomination.

Among other new stamps issued this year will be a special red, white, and blue stamp symbolizing French-American friendship.

Seek To Lick Grain Storage Problem In U.S.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—The administration is embarked today on a twin assault to lick the acute grain storage problem in an effort to stave off a complete wheat price collapse.

President Truman's signature on a bill to permit expansion of government-owned storage was scarcely dry when Agriculture Secretary Brannan announced that it will be more than doubled.

Brannan also told a news conference that for the first time the government will liberalize temporarily its grain support program so that loans may be made in some cases to farmers who lack adequate storage.

At the same time, the Agriculture department announced that it will purchase 191,000 more long tons of wheat for shipment to Belgium, France, North Africa and Japan during June.

Meanwhile, Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee introduced a bill which would, in effect, permit government subsidies on wheat.

Thomas claims that most wheat farmers in his area actually are losing about 32 cents a bushel at present because of the storage situation.

Japanese Says 136 Japs Made Mass Escape

TOKYO, June 8.—(INS)—A Japanese patient in the charity ward of a Tokyo hospital claimed today that he and 135 other Japanese internees had escaped from a Soviet detention camp on Russian-held Sakhalin Island.

The patient, Masao Suzuki, told International News Service that the mass escape from the island north of Japan was effected March 25.

Suzuki said the 136 escapees stole a large fishing boat aboard which they sailed south, going ashore on an isolated beach on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island.

During the journey, the 33-year-old Suzuki related, four members of a Soviet sea patrol boarded the escape ship but were thrown overboard.

Suzuki said neither American nor Japanese authorities questioned the fugitives after they made their way back to Japan.

loaded with Puerto Ricans, returning to the U. S.

Developed Trouble

The plane developed engine trouble soon after its take-off and plunged into the Caribbean waters off Salinas Point, about four miles from San Juan. It sank in six minutes.

Of the six crew members, only Capt. Alfred O. Cockrill of Pittsfield, Mass., an official of Strato Freight, perished. The stewardess, Judy Hale of Binghamton, N. Y., was rescued after clinging to a rock for five hours. She saved the life of passenger Consuelo Rodriguez by holding her afloat until help arrived.

The previous top death toll in commercial aviation was 53 killed on May 30, 1947, near Port Deposit, Md., and on Feb. 15, 1947, in Bogota, Colombia.

Omar, The Camel, Has Mind Of Own

PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—"Be ware of the fury of a patient camel."

As a rule, camels are an easy going lot, but like humans, they have their uncontrollable moments.

Take Omar, for instance. This double-humped fugitive from the deserts is now residing at the Philadelphia Zoo. His daily routine includes sleeping, eating and looking pert for the "kiddie" spectators.

However, Omar was quite disturbed recently. It seems he had just become the proud papa of an 80-pound, four-foot tall daughter. But the zoo's employees, fearing that Omar might accidentally hurt his loving daughter, separated the hairy bachelors.

Poor Omar, here he was with his first female offspring (he has three sons) and he couldn't even see his child.

Then Omar got mad. Down went the wooden partition that had imprisoned him and it was home sweet home, again.

Labor Bill Amendment Is Proposed

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Sen. Ives (R) N. Y., announced today he is drafting a labor amendment dealing with a national "paralysis" strikes which would require the president to report the emergency to Congress for prompt action.

His approach is that the threat of crisis legislation would bring a speedy adjustment of differences—at least a truce ending any struggle on the national economy.

Taft To Speak

At the same time, progressive Republicans who would like to support some of the Taft-Hartley modifications drafted by Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, warned that the Ohioan would lose votes if he insists on presenting his changes in omnibus form. Taft is to speak on the labor bill when the Senate meets today.

Sen. Aiken (R) Vt., co-sponsor of five bipartisan amendments to the administration's Taft-Hartley repeal bill, predicted that Taft will be defeated on his substitute amendment. Taft proposes only two amendments, one dealing with national emergency strikes, the other covering all his other proposed changes.

DEADLOCK IN BERLIN PARLEY NOW ADMITTED

remaining east-west problem that may still be settled. Agreement on overall German unification and the formation of a single Berlin government appears doomed.

At yesterday's open meeting the impossibility of reconciling eastern and western views became obvious. Vishinsky wanted a four-power Berlin Kommandatura which would have almost complete control over the city, and which would be subject to the veto.

Acheson, on the other hand, favored restricted powers for Kommandatura. Only by unanimous disapproval of the Kommandatura could a decision of the city government be revoked, under the Acheson plan.

Contract Probe Voted By House

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—The House today voted a full investigation of the controversy surrounding the giant B-36 bomber and charges that undue influence was used in the granting of aircraft contracts.

The House adopted by voice vote a resolution directing the Armed Services Committee to conduct the probe and gave the group full power to subpoena witnesses and papers.

Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., committee chairman, followed up the House action by requesting that $50,000 be furnished to defray the cost of hiring a special counsel and investigating staff for the inquiry.

Rep. Colmer (D) Miss., who was in charge of the resolution on the floor, declared that it resulted in a congressional investigation of rumors and counter-rumors, of charges and counter-charges.

New Parsonage To Be Constructed By Third U.P. Church

Extensive Building And Landscaping Project Gets Under Way At East Side Church

Approximately $42,000 will be spent by the congregation of the Third U.P. church on the East Side in the construction of a new parsonage or manse and subsequent landscaping and other improvements surrounding the church within the next few months, it has been announced by members of the trustee board and building committee.

Already, excavation has been completed for the new 32x62 parsonage, on the corner of Beckford and East Washington streets, which will cost $31,000. Contractors are placing forms for the foundation of the new pastor's residence which will consist of a living room, dining room, large kitchen, breakfast room, three bedrooms, bathroom, recreation room, pastor's study and other facilities.

The church plans complete use of the large plot of ground which is almost half a city block in size extending from Adams street where the church sits, to Beckford street and back to the alley at the rear of the property. The East Washington street portion of the property is to be landscaped extensively and the other portion of the land is to be blacktopped and used for parking facilities, for the large congregation. From ten to 12 thousand dollars will be spent in this latter project.

Upon completion of the new manse, the present residence of Dr. and Mrs. J. Paul Graham and family will be dismantled, enabling a better view by the public of the west side of the church building and its beautiful stained glass windows.

The project as a whole will give the Third U.P. an ideal church plant and facilities with no parking problems or other objectionable problems which confront many churches in the city today in this growing community.

size. After a more thorough examination of the facts, we will know more about it, but the bare facts admitted—that scholarships have been distributed to Communists, are a little disturbing because of the fact that the Atomic Energy Commission is entrusted with secrets of very important defense ammunition. Evidently, the Scholarships have been distributed to bright young men who have a very high standing with their teachers in the different schools where they have been examined as to their scholastic ability without being asked—were they Communists or were they not. We will see what we will see in the next few weeks. An affair of this kind will not blow over. Senator Hick-enlooper has looked a few devils, and they have got to be pretty thoroughly examined.

Another One Loosed
As though this particular scandal was not enough, there was one loosed several months ago by one Chambers—a one-time Communist—against one Hiss, which is being aired in the Federal Court in New York City. Mr. Hiss says that he never met Mr. Chambers; doesn't know who he is and never had anything to do with him. Yet Mr. Chambers claims that he furnished Hiss with certain records to copy; that Hiss presumably copied them and returned them to Moscow. The facts alleged by Chambers and the denials by Hiss have all the appearance of a good constructive scheme of spying on the defensive secrets of the United States government.

It seems strange if you intimately know a man and confide in him some important information as Mr. Chambers says he did to Mr. Hiss, to not only meet with denial that he ever gave out any information of that kind, but reiterates his charges and says that having seen the error of his ways, he has been converted. And like many converts, he hastens to give out all the damning information concerning his erstwhile friend, he knows. And to complete the spy ring, Mr. Hiss answers very definitely: "I don't know Mr. Chambers; I have never met him; I have had no communication with him and have never received any information from him." That is just about what a good Soviet spy would say when confronted with such charges as Mr. Chambers makes.

It will be very interesting to see whether or not Mr. Chambers can make his charges stick. Somebody is going to be proven a liar.

tives are being accused of framing policies that do not consider the public good and that Toryism merely is dictatorship in striped pants and top hat.

In Realistic Stage
Basically both Conservatives and Laborites feel that the theory of nationalization has passed out of the experimental into the realistic stage.

The Tories admit that a certain amount of nationalization is inevitable and their election program doubtless will have a plank along this line. What they want are rigid controls and real economies at a time when Britain's financial structure is unquestionably endangered.

Thus the Laborites, by holding their conference at this early date, are in a position to adopt a mid-die-of-the-road program that will please both the laboring class and the millions of "white collar" folk who voted Socialist and uneaten Winston Churchill as prime minister immediately after the end of the war.

The Conservative advantage lies in the fact that they have made vast electoral gains and that the Laborites, by virtue of an early conference have many more months in which to make a fatal mistake. On all scores, this promises to be one of the most cautious pre-election campaigns in British history.

WHAT INDEXES SHOW

As the year opened, consensus among economists on the business outlook could have been put in these words: The country has entered a period of readjustment but there are no immediate indications of a serious recession.

Prospects are that activity will decline somewhat but level off on a relatively high plateau.

Today, more than five months later, statistics show that this was a reasonably accurate forecast. In fact, the first part of it could be repeated now. But there is less confidence about that plateau. The downturn has continued and no one can be sure where or when it will stop.

This uncertainty has been reflected recently in the behavior of the stock market.

It is worth pointing out, nevertheless, that the indexes for the first quarter of the year reflected a remarkably high level of business. The gross national product, for example, was rated at $256,000,000,000 annually as compared to $265,000,000,000 in the last quarter of 1948.

Personal incomes in March were only 3 1/2 per cent below last December. Unemployment in April stood at 3,016,000, compared to a 1948 average of 2,064,000. Weekly earnings in mid-April were $2.40 below the December, 1948, peak ($55.01) but 85 cents above April, 1948.

Comparisons with prewar figures are more indicative. Unemployment in 1941 averaged 5,560,000 monthly. The average in 1940 was 8,120,000. And the labor force has increased an estimated 6,000,000 during the last nine years. To sum up, the readjustment has been gradual and the nation is still far from prewar conditions.

The future is clouded. But the record offers considerable reason to hope that the slide will be checked before it goes too far.

ELECTION SHOCK

It is now generally realized that the Communists took a sound licking in the recent elections held in Russian-controlled Eastern Germany. The Reds themselves were, of course, the first to recognize this when the earliest returns came in. They were so surprised and shocked by these returns that they couldn't help shouting "double cross" and talk about "vicious propaganda" from the Western Zone which had deluded the voters.

The completeness of the Communist election was indicated by the conditions under which the drubbing was held. Only one ticket could be voted and that was the Communist handpicked ticket. Any voter wishing to express an anti-Communist opinion had to "write it in." The Reds had control of the election and exerted the same kind of pressure they used in elections in other Soviet-controlled zones. They confidently expected a victory similar to those in Bulgaria, Rumania and Poland where the same tactics of thuggery were employed.

But this time it was different. Of the first 7,000 votes counted in Berlin only 2,280 endorsed the Red ticket. A total of 3,809 voters said "no." A few tickets were declared invalid. This was so surprising to the Communies that they stopped giving out returns, and began frothing at the mouth. Many observers believe that, with a fair count, it would have been shown that the people voted by a great majority against the Red candidates.

By keeping the returns to themselves the Red leaders finally announced figures which admitted that the anti-Communists got over a third of the vote, which was much greater than the 2 to 5 percent usually shown in Red-controlled elections. But these "official" figures were so plainly falsified that the Reds themselves didn't claim a "great victory" this time.

The Red leaders doubtless wanted a great victory to fortify them in the four-power conference in Paris. Now that they didn't get it, however, they can be expected to take another tack. Many observers believe they will use the voting return in Eastern Germany to reassure the Western Allies that there is no danger of a Red-controlled Germany and will urge a unified German government at once with withdrawal of all occupying troops. Such a move many believe, would give the Reds the opportunity of threatening and boring within without interference from the Western Allies.

Many a man would be able to finance himself if he could realize cash on his egotism.

Some members of Congress remind one or two small boys who strut with chips on their shoulders.

Television has brought back old-time vaudeville. We presume that this include the flat straw hats on the song and dance teams.

Senator Byrd says the Kimball at Washington has been hiring 322 more workers a day for the past 15 months. Well, you have to admit that it worked in the 1948 elections.

They had one of those famous Iron-Curtain free elections in Bulgaria the other day. The voter could vote for the candidates of the "Fatherland Front" (Communist) or leave his ballot blank. If left blank it might entitle him to a one-way-excursion ticket to Siberia.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

The British Labor party has opened its annual conference at Blackpool, England, and with the first battle of the gavel began a full-scale battle for retention of power in the general elections of 1950.

This meeting, one of the most important in Britain's modern history, started on a highly significant note.

The delegates voted overwhelmingly in approving the executive committee's action in expelling Konni Zilliacus and Leslie Solley, left wing members of parliament who failed to follow the Socialist Party line.

Officially they were thrown out because they refused to obey orders to support the government's controversial Ireland bill. This measure, designed to prevent Northern Ireland from becoming absorbed into the new Southern Irish Republic, has been criticized bitterly as "un-English and undemocratic."

Party Rebuke
Actually, however, the expulsion of Zilliacus and Solley was an official party rebuke to extreme left-wingers who on occasion have shown too much sympathy with Communist arguments in the east-west diplomatic struggle.

The party's action is important, therefore, as an advance indication that the conference will decide upon a "slowdown policy" as regards nationalization.

This is the tactic favored by Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, who is leader of the moderate faction in the Labor party. And it is the one most feared by the Conservatives, who have been encouraged by recent municipal, rural and county council election victories to hope for victory in the general election next year. They are convinced that a labor platform of a sort of extreme socialization would plunge the party now in power into the depths of defeat.

Not Successfully
The Conservatives claim, and not without evidence, that nationalization thus far has not been a complete success.

They say it has not given and should not give a cheaper and more plentiful supply of goods and services.

They say that workers are less happy and that the possibility of strikes has not been diminished, as witness the present dimpled "Sunday walkouts" on the railways.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Important Notice!!! If, by chance you have in your possession any of that uranium oxide which recently disappeared mysteriously from the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne Laboratory at Chicago, please do not try to use it to make your geraniums grow more prolifically.

It won't work in spite of what I said in a recent column. I take it for granted that most of you who read that column knew that it was intended to be at least semi-humorous.

But, I am afraid, a sense of humor is not part of the scientific make-up, and so I received an official letter from Mr. W. Ralph Singleton of the Biology Department of Brookhaven National Laboratory in Upton, Long Island, where, according to my information, the geranium experiments were being made.

To be sure that I would be properly called to order, Mr. Ralph W. Singleton sent a copy of the letter to the editor of the Bridgeport, Conn., Telegram in which he had read my column.

I quote the letter in part, although I must confess that most of it is much too learned for my limited understanding.

"According to your report," writes Mr. Ralph W. Singleton, "the radioactive phosphorus caused geraniums to make a luxuriant growth."

"I wonder if you could inform me of the source of your information from one of the news releases from this Laboratory."

"Furthermore, we have not done any experiments with the effect of radioactive phosphorus on the stimulation of growing plants. We have used radiophosphorus as a source of radiation for the induction of mutations in micro-organisms and also tried to obtain some mutations in corn with it, but apparently did not give sufficient dose to it."

Mr. Ralph W. Singleton continues his lengthy explanation and ends his letter with this castigation:

"Reports such as yours are grossly misleading to the public. If you wish to report on work that is being done at this Laboratory I am sure that Mr. Amrine would be glad to send you official press releases. Such releases should prevent any further misstatements such as appear in your article."

Knowing that a lot of people have confidence in me I am, of course, terribly worried about the disappearance of the uranium so soon after my column was published. Perhaps I am to blame for the threat.

So I repeat, dear readers, if you have the stuff, don't use it on your geraniums! It won't work, says Mr. W. Ralph Singleton, who made me feel as if I should be blown up by an atom bomb for having been inaccurate.

I would advise him not to worry too much over the failure of his experiments on corn.

I am sure that corn tastes ever so much better with a large job of butter than with any amount of radiophosphorus.

I would also advise Mr. Singleton to have a good laugh at the world in general and at himself every now and then.

They go further and charge that nationalization in the long run means higher costs for goods and services, with the ultimate result that it is used merely as an instrument for taxation in one guise or another.

While platform policy has yet to be framed by the Laborites, two Socialist arguments have been put forward that may serve as a clue.

One is that any present deficiencies in socialization of industry represent "growing pains" in the period of transition from "grinding capitalism" to more democratic methods.

The second is that the Conserva-

DEVELOP CHILD'S IMAGINATION

It's wonderful how some grateful mothers sense the gradual development of imagination and creative powers in the young child and encourage this child to go on creating. For example, one mother writes:

"Next door, Madge has the mumps. Our Daddy who is nearly five takes a letter to her each day. I write the letter which he helps me compose. Since he was playing with Madge the same day she actually became ill, we expect him to get the same soon. Meanwhile, he and I seek to brighten Madge's days in bed. He and I have great fun doing it."

Sample Letter
She enclosed a sample letter she had written to Madge from the suggestions and words of her little boy. In this way she set a strong motive for her son to create from words, for fun with a purpose to make Madge happier. Can you think of finer furtherance of unselfish idealism while making two young children happy? Besides, the mother gains a lot of satisfaction for herself.

Another mother writes: "My daughter takes great interest in the page of printed drawings in a children's magazine she has. She has always been exceptional in art and I have filed her drawings, dating each one. Knowing of your deep interest in and appreciation of the drawings of your children I thought you might like to see three large sample books I have made of Millicent's creations. And they are precious to her and me I wish you would return them to us."

First Volume
They are truly wonderful. I wish you could also see them. The first volume is labeled, "Millicent Ann Drury's Drawings at Four Years to Kindergarten Years." The second, "At Six Years of Age." The third, "At Eight Years of Age."

Let us hope that Millicent is now making her own scrapbook, her mother helping her, enjoying it with her. Of course, the scrapbooks will be returned, Millicent and her mother will enjoy going through these books to observe the young artist's growth. Years hence, Millicent's grandchildren may also enjoy these books together with their own scrapbooks.

As one goes through these books one not only enjoys the creative achievements and growth of Millicent but also the appreciative wisdom and foresight of her mother, without whom these books would not have been, nor Millicent so far advanced as a creative artist.

I wrote to the mother and Millicent asking their permission to use their names and addresses in this column in order to make this report more real and interesting to you. Gladly they granted it. Mrs. Thomas W. Drury and her daughter Millicent live at Sturges, Michigan, P. O. Box 42. Let me add that while anything I quote in this column is from a real person, I never use a name or address without permission. Nor do I ever quote from a letter which is marked "confidential."

I wish thousands of my readers would emulate Mrs. Drury. They might also record the yarns the little child makes up and make a scrapbook of them, not only to stimulate the child to create more but to have wholesome fun and companionship with him. Related bulletins of mine are: "Now Come The Fairies," and "Letting Little Children Learn," to be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Interest is beginning to run high in the New Castle Hospital Building Fund Campaign . . . here and there as we walk around we hear talk about the hospital . . . from people who have had need for the services of that institution. Praise is all we hear? . . . no that isn't all we hear . . . those who have visited the hospital during an illness say more . . . they tell of the need for the addition that is planned. The new services that will be available when the new addition is completed . . . departments that will be added that will help in this community and save the citizens much time and money that in the past must have been spent making trips to larger hospitals in the big cities.

However, some very fine work in emergencies has already been done in the New Castle Hospital . . . with the complete cooperation of the Sisters, Nurses and Doctors . . . Last September a young lad of nine years was admitted to the New Castle Hospital . . . his stay was only ten days but at the time it was feared that he might lose the sight of one eye . . . With excellent care from all concerned a miracle happened . . . he completely recovered.

On June 5th . . . that was last Sunday . . . this lad (John J. Hudak) took his first communion at Madonna Church . . . a proud lad he was too . . . after the services someone presented him with a gift of ten . . . three dollars to be exact . . . on his way home he asked permission to stop at the New Castle Hospital . . . to visit Sister Mary John, the administrator, and in a very humble manner presented the three dollars to be applied to the Hospital Building Fund.

John Hudak . . . you may be only nine but you are the type of boy that America is depending on . . . and we hope that your health continues to improve . . . and that your life is happy . . . for you have made the officers, board and Sisters of the New Castle Hospital very joyful.

Knee Deep In June

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Hickenlooper Probe Worries

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The kind of fishing expedition Senator Bourke B. Hickenlooper is conducting is bound to bring to light some surprises. No project so vast and difficult as the development of atomic energy, involving so many people and surrounded with a wall of secrecy, could possibly be perfect.

Whether the fish will be big or little—that is to say minor errors or major errors—the public may never know except in the most general terms. So strict are the security regulations that Senator Hickenlooper himself may have violated them in his statements about "enriched uranium" missing from the Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago. When asked if this was security violation, Atomic Energy Commission spokesmen reply with "No comment."

There are, however, facts which can be known, and it is possible that a fishing expedition may not bring them to the surface. Take, for example, the commission's struggle to enforce security in private manufacturing firms.

Orders Bargaining to End
This involved a decision to order an end to collective bargaining with the United Electrical Workers, the principal union in the electrical industry. The commission took that step last fall, requiring the General Electric Co. to cease recognizing the UEW as the bargaining agent for workers at the atomic energy installations in the Schenectady area.

The reason for this step is obvious. The UEW has been repeatedly charged with Communist domination at the top; a charge made by the commission.

One Man's Opinion

(By Walter Kiernan)

The temporary retirement of Margaret O'Brien from public life is a calamity we will have to bear with the best possible grace.

Just as we are feeling brave enough through our tears over the appeals court decision making John Lewis' contempt fine stick.

Miss O'Brien has been upset by failure of her elders to take her advice and counsel . . . a common complaint of 12-year-olds these days.

In fact there is a feeling in juvenile circles that parents today are not nearly as mature as their grandparents' children were.

There may be a medical explanation for this but all our doctors are in Atlantic City taking each other's temperatures on socialized medicine.

It's quite a sight to see 2,500 doctors greeting each other with "How are you doctor?" and pulling out their stethoscopes to find out.

officials of the C.I.O. who are seeking to purge the Communist direction of certain C.I.O. unions.

With the pressure that unemployed union officials could bring to bear on individual employees, who might themselves be completely loyal, such a union could not be tolerated. If the UEW could function as the collective bargaining agent for workers on highly secret contracts at Schenectady, the same union would probably be interested in organizing the atomic plant at Hanford, Wash., which is also operated by General Electric.

Union Brought Suit

The decision was taken only after the union had been offered a full opportunity to come forward to try to resolve the question of loyalty. Rejecting this opportunity, officers of the union elected instead to bring a million-dollar damage suit against the company and the commission. A federal court has upheld the action of the AEC.

This is only one example of the kind of positive action taken by the commission in the interest of ever-increasing security. It was not easy to do, particularly since no other agency of government had taken such a step. The navy today has contracts for work just as secret as that of the AEC, and the UEW is the bargaining agent for the employees engaged in that work.

The problem of the use of fissionable material by several hundred persons in various laboratories illustrates the gravity of the security problem. The U-235 referred to by Hickenlooper, in the story deliberately "leaked" by someone on the inside, is constantly passing through one process after another. It cannot be catalogued in exact quantities from hour to hour nor even from day to day.

The fissionable material that is stored is checked each day. Likewise the bombs are counted each day. Incidentally, think what a job that would be—to count those eggs of mass death and be sure that each one was in its proper place.

Commission Worries

Chairman David Lilienthal and the other members of the commission are fearful that the positive side of security will not be developed in the current fishing expedition. They are well aware that incidents can be blown into headlines, which serve chiefly to inflame.

WHY MEN WORK

Beyond the task that dreary seems
Lie every worker's fondest dreams.

His table set with wholesome fare,
The frocks his little girls will wear.

The home with pretty things
Aglow with his little girls will bring.

The school to which his boy shall go;
The little joys that sweeten life.

The dress and bonnet for his wife;
For all his loved ones when he're ill.

Assurance of a doctor's skill;
The right to walk with head erect.

From what is offered to select.
Beyond his task the toiler sees

Achievement of such dreams as these.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER

City Health Superintendent

Somewhat or other, infantile paralysis scares people worse than any other disease.

It is usually very mild. Perhaps most of the people who are infected with it do not have any signs or symptoms at all.

It is not known for sure just how it is spread. Most people seem to think that it is a contact disease. That means it is passed from person to person.

At present we do not have a preventive nor a cure. There is a lot of work being done to learn more about polio.

A cure would be good but while we are at it, why not hope for something to prevent it.

Would Cure Her Gambling

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

It was during the running of the fifth at Belmont that I read of the Los Angeles grandmother who is taking shots in the arm to cure her of gambling fever.

I can always read during the running of a race because a second after the ponies have broken from the gate it becomes obvious that my selection couldn't out-run a setting hen, nad so I am able to relax.

It seems that the California grandmother started to care more for the poker table than the dinner table, and was losing so much trying to fill straight that her husband had to ask the court to prescribe the drug treatment.

Anxious To Learn Of Drug

I am very anxious to find out the name of the drug that Granny is taking, and whether or not it is available on the market. If it is, I want to place an order for five or six barrels of the stuff, and a hypodermic needle the size of a fire hose nozzle. Then I will start giving myself a gallon or two a day, with or without a doctor's order. As a matter of fact, I will drink the mixture, with or without a chaser, before meals and just before retiring.

Not that I am a chronic gambler, mind you, but I happen to be a man who can't win at any game of chance. The marbles I lost shooting for "keeps" as a kid should have taught me to lay off, but it didn't, and through the years I have had my pride and pocketbook beaten to a pulp.

Most Classic Example

The most classic example of my being unable to win came years ago when I was a sportswriter and was in a celebrated far-western town to make an address. The sheriff of this wide-open city took a liking to me and said that if I cared to risk a little money he could almost guarantee that I would win.

This seemed a smart and sporting proposition, so I jumped at the chance like a weasel for a pullet. We made the rounds, and the more rounds we made the worse luck I enjoyed, even though the sheriff gave me a nice introduction in each place and always whispered something in the proprietor's ear.

I tried blackjack, roulette, birdcage, poker, and the crap table, and always came up empty.

Finally, the sheriff told me that, by gum and by golly, he knew a game I could win at and would see to it that I did. I said something like, "Lead me to it, brother," and we wound up in an establishment that featured a game where you bet on which hole a mouse would run into when released.

Would Be Fixed

The sheriff had a talk with the manager, and then told me that for my benefit the game was going to be fixed when I played.

I told the sheriff that I couldn't go for such a thing—that it was unfair. He said no, it wasn't unfair, because no one else would be playing the game but myself.

I asked how the game would be fixed.

"One of the holes has been baited with Liederkrantz cheese," he told me. "Any mouse is bound to run for that one instead of the cheeseless holes. So play all you have on hole No. 6, which is the Liederkrantz one."

I went for all I had. Out came the mouse, full of mouseful energy. He circled the cage, sniffing. He came to No. 6, and if I have ever seen a look of disgust on a mouse's face, it was on that mouse's as he got a whiff of the Liederkrantz. His whiskers dropped, his ears sagged, his tail straightened, and he reared up on his hind legs. Then he darted for hole No. 1, on the opposite side of the cage and disappeared.

"Sheriff," I said, "I don't want to hurt your feelings, but that must have been a house mouse. Either that, or I am so ungraciously I drew the one mouse in the world who doesn't like cheese."

If the drug doesn't work on the Los Angeles granny, I have a sure cure for her. Let her bet along with me for a while, and she'll have to give it up—she won't have anything left to bet with.

President John Adams appointed him governor of the new territory of Indiana Territory. A position he held until 1812. "God never made any man good enough to go all the way alone. The modern tragedy, is that He lets those who are conceded enough to think they can make it without His help, try it."

The speech spiced with excellent illustrations and humorous incidents, left a very good impression on the class and marked Dr. Orr as a most welcome addition to this community.

Ladies Of Eagles Officers Installed

Men's Degree Team Installs Auxiliary Officers Tuesday Night

At the regular meeting of the Ladies of the Eagles, held in the Eagles Club, Tuesday evening, installation of the 49-50 officers was held.

Mrs. Walter Heckart presided. A check for $25 was sent to Father Flanagan's Boys Town, for the upkeep of the Eagles Building there.

Plans were made to hold the annual family picnic at Cascade Park, June 28. Mrs. Howard Hunter, Jr., chairman for the month of June, and her committee will be charge.

Officers Installed
The men of the Eagles, with their degree team under the direction of Harry Evans, installed the new Auxiliary officers. Members of the men's degree team were: Harry Evans, Ellis McCracken, Glenn Reno, Harry Buckley, Charles Key, George Cowan, George Thompson, Samuel Alben and Albert Criss.

The installation work was beautifully done by the men in a room which was decorated with lovely arrangements of spring flowers. During the installation, Mr. Evans thanked the ladies for their cooperation in the past and commended them on the large amount of community projects undertaken by the Auxiliary.

Officers installed for the coming year were: past madam president, Mrs. Walter Heckart; president, Mrs. William Pugh; vice president, Mrs. Elgin McConnell; chaplain, Mrs. Arliss Crum; secretary, Mrs. Samuel Jackson; treasurer, Mrs. Kathryn Williams; inside guard, Mrs. William Ricer; conductress, Mrs. Walter Plich; outside guard, Mrs. John Grimes; trustee for three years, Mrs. Frank Peterson; trustee for two years, Mrs. Charles Key.

As Mrs. Pugh was installed into her office, Mrs. Henrietta Davis, on behalf of her son, Ralph Pugh, presented her with a large arm bouquet of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Heckart then presented each of her officers and committee chairladies with a personal gift in appreciation of the cooperation she had received from them during her term of office. Mrs. Pugh then presented Mrs. Heckart with a lovely personal gift from the auxiliary in recognition of a very successful term of office.

Mrs. Pugh named as her committee chairladies for the coming month: June, Mrs. Howard Hunter, Jr.; July, Mrs. William Ricer; August, Mrs. Samuel Jackson; September, Mrs. Henrietta Davis; October, Mrs. Arliss Crum; November, Mrs. Katherine Ross; December, Mrs. Walter Heckart; January, Mrs. Sue DeRobbio; February, Mrs. Elgin McConnell; March, Mrs. James Hook; April, Mrs. Henry Navarra and May, Mrs. Stephan Williams.

On behalf of the Auxiliary, Mrs. James Hook, chairlady for social and charity work, presented each of her committee members with a gift. She also reported that $1400 had been raised by the Auxiliary for community and civic projects during the past year.

Mrs. Pugh appointed Mrs. Ellis McCracken to head her social and charity committee and Mrs. Henry Navarra to head the membership committee which is made up of the following members: Mrs. James Hook, Mrs. Stephan Skuba, Mrs. Walter Heckart, Mrs. Samuel Alben and Mrs. Charles Key.

Mrs. Chauncey Davis was appointed auditor and Mrs. Henry Navarra as captain of the initiatory and display team. Mrs. Henry Jenkins will serve as the Auxiliary pianist and Mrs. Charles Jamison as alternate pianist.

The committee for Tuesday evening's social and refreshment period under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard Hunter, Jr., was: Mrs. Henry Navarra, Mrs. Arliss Crum, Mrs. Leonard Wise, Mrs. Glenn Reno, Mrs. James Hook, Mrs. Charles Jamison, Mrs. Theodore Palmer and Mrs. Walter Heckart. Three Convicts Still At Large Three West Virginia State Prison Convicts Hunted Near Salem, O.

MOONSVILLE, W. Va., June 8. (INS)—A posse was ready to resume search today for two of the escaped West Virginia state prison convicts who may be hiding in an abandoned coal mine patch near Salem, O.

A search of the area yesterday by the Ohio State Patrol, aided by a patrol plane, failed to turn up any trace of the men.

The search turned to the area when a farmer's wife, Mrs. Frank Fish, reported two men had "talked her out of clothes, blankets and food" and then fled on foot.

Another search of a wooded area near Viola, W. Va., was carried out yesterday when a farmer reported sighting two strange men in his barn.

Three of the 14 prisoners who broke out of the prison last Friday are still at large. They are Denver Vannest, 35, Gerald Noland, 19, and Eddie Starcher, 23.

Registration Of School Beginners Under Estimate

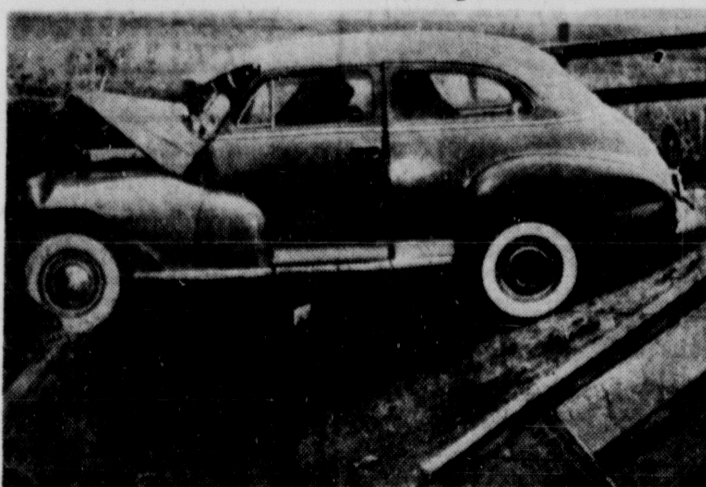

Unless there are a great many first year pupils that have not been registered in New Castle, the total of new pupils in the public schools will be below the estimate in September.

Dr. Frank L. Burton, superintendent of schools, said today that the pre-school registration totaled 626. The registration this time a year ago totaled 688.

The actual number that entered school in September last year was 802. It had been estimated that the number this year might go to 1000. If the same ratio holds in September as appears now, the total of new students will not exceed 750.

Tentatively it had been planned that five new elementary teachers would be needed to care for the increase in school enrollment. The figures at hand presently show no need for that many additional teachers. Dr. Burton believes that if the distribution of the new students is fairly equal, there will be no need for any additional elementary teachers.

End Of Road For Desperadoes

MARYSVILLE, KANSAS—Flight of the Minnesota's desperadoes ended when their car crashed into a ditch injuring Allen Hartman, 20, driver of the car, and a companion, Carl Blistrum, 26. A third man claiming to be a hitch-hiker was also injured. Farmers captured the occupants of the car following the crash.

Drowning Scare Causes Student To Lose Memory

Goes Swimming, Nearly Drowns, Purdue Student Loses Memory Due To Shock

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 8. (INS)—The use of hypnosis to restore to a Purdue student the memory he lost five days before was reported today by a University of Illinois psychiatrist.

Dr. Richard L. Jenkins said that in 15 minutes he induced the amnesia victim to recall his identity as Harold Louis Woehler, 21.

Woehler went to Champaign police last Monday and said he did not know who he was or where he came from.

He was placed under Jenkin's care. Under hypnosis, the youth quickly spoke thoughts buried in his unconscious mind.

Been Nearly Drowned
The doctor reported the youth unfolded the fact that he had been swimming . . . nearly drowned . . . found himself on the river bank . . . no clothes . . . only a wrist watch.

Dr. Jenkins added that Woehler said he stumbled along . . . found some clothes . . . a farmer gave him a job, plowing . . . he worked a day and went on . . . somehow he was in the Champaign police station . . . the doctor . . . and now he knew he was Harold Woehler.

He told how he had gone fishing five days before in the Wabash river in Lafayette, Ind.

Jenkins said Woehler's loss of memory resulted from the shock of his narrow escape from the river.

Woehler's unused fishing tackle and all his clothing had been found on the river bank by his bride of six months, Jacqueline.

Spy Probers Delving Into Espionage Case

Dr. Berhard Peters, University Of Rochester, Called In As Subpoenaed Witness

By SAM FOGG (U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 8.—House spy probers delved into the "Scientist X" wartime espionage case today by calling the supervisor of atomic energy fellowship work at Rochester University.

Frank S. Tavenner, counsel for the House un-American activities committee listed Dr. Berhard Peters of the university as a subpoenaed witness for today's hearing.

An inquiry also was launched to determine whether the United Nations is serving as a sanctuary for Communist spies and former government employees who have been dismissed for security reasons. Mrs. Mary Jane Keeney, a UN employee, and her husband Phillip O. Keeney were summoned for questioning.

Accused Of Receiving Formula
Also on hand will be Steve Nelson, a Communist party organizer whom the committee has accused of receiving a secret atomic formula from an unidentified scientist at the University of California radiation laboratory during the war.

The committee has charged that Nelson delivered the formula from "Scientist X" to an official of the Russian consulate in San Francisco.

Dr. Peters, who now supervises students working on atomic research under atomic energy commission fellowships, formerly worked at the Berkeley, Calif., laboratory.

Committee members are seeking to corroborate evidence that a special Communist party cell was established for atomic scientists at the laboratory.

Two of America's Most Popular Motor Cars

Pictured above are typical examples of the two smart and separate lines of cars which bear the current imprint of Pontiac goodness—the Streamliner and the Chieftain De Luxe Sedan Coupes.

Each is in such demand that, on its own, it ranks among America's most popular cars today. That two cars of such decidedly different appearance should each enjoy such wide acceptance is easy to explain. THEY'RE BOTH PONTIAC!

While each has its own individualized smartness, both offer all the great basic Pontiac virtues. Both are conspicuously beautiful. Both carry the well-known promise of Pontiac quality—long life, dependability, and fine performance. Both afford the smooth, enjoyable performance of Pontiac's two great engines—the power-packed straight eight or its equally famous six-cylinder companion.

Finally, both represent unusual values—a very fine product at a very low price. Either one you choose will make you mighty happy.

Oppose Special Session In 1949

House Administration Leaders Are Opposed To Congress Special Call

OTHER NEWS OF WASHINGTON

(Special to Central Press)
WASHINGTON, June 8.—House administration leaders are opposed to a special session of Congress this year. However, they may attempt to keep Congress in session long enough this summer to pass a substantial portion of President Truman's legislative program.

Under the reorganization act, the adjournment date for Congress is set for July 31, but passage of a joint resolution by the Senate and House could extend the session. The president says that Congress ought to stay in session until it passes a good part of his program.

A Democratic spokesman revealed that Mr. Truman has never broached the subject of a special session with his congressional leaders, however.

The House leadership has decided to ignore the log-jam in the Senate and press for action on five or six more major measures. These include:

A housing bill; part of a health insurance program; but not compulsory medical care; extension of social security; a minimum wage increase; a boost in pay for members of the armed services, and easing of the displaced persons law.

The House also may act on federal aid to education, and probably will approve a new veterans pension bill.

SPANISH QUESTION

This fight over whether the United States should send an ambassador to Spain is expected to break forth anew when the Senate begins debate on the Atlantic Pact. A small group of senators, headed by Senator Patrick A. McCarran (D, Nevada), has served notice that it is prepared to hold out against voting for approval of the pact unless Spain is accorded full diplomatic recognition.

Other senators are not prepared to go as far, but both Chairman Tom Connally (D, Texas), of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R, Michigan), its top GOP member, are for full recognition of Spain.

McCarran is carrying his demand a step further and is insisting that Spain be asked to join the Atlantic Pact. He has many sympathizers but few followers on this point.

The United States withdrew its ambassador from Madrid, in accordance with a United Nations resolution condemning the Franco regime. At present, this country is represented in Spain by a charge d'affaires.

B-36 SITUATION

Critics who see shady maneuverings behind the Air Force orders for B-36 bombers are overlooking some of the basic facts of aviation procurement.

While Air Secretary Stuart Symington is being belted around for cancelling orders for other bombers to order more of the huge six-engine B-36's, it should be remembered that:

The B-36 is a "ready" airplane. That means it is available in numbers if ordered. Most of the aircraft types cancelled would not have been in volume production for a year or more.

When President Truman's budget directed a reduction of Air Force Groups from 59 to 48, Symington had to decide, and quickly, where to cut. Should he cut on planes which could be obtained quickly, in case of emergency, or on types which could not go into action for many months?

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

As children move into their teens, they are interested in being on their own. Whereas, earlier, it was perfectly acceptable for parents to be right in the center of any parties held at home, now, the youngsters would rather have them out of the picture.

Some young people have insisted that Mom and Pop plan to be away from home on the evening the party is being held. Even when one feels that children can be trusted, this scheme is questionable. Situations may arise in which a little adult counsel is important. Excessive rough-housing, for instance, is very difficult for junior hosts and hostesses to handle alone.

A suitable compromise seems to be one in which parents are on hand along with their youngsters to greet the arriving guests. After this has been done, they gracefully retire to another part of the house where they can be "on call" if needed. Sometimes, too, a little help with refreshments is most welcome.

The main point is that youngsters be permitted to be largely on their own but that there are experienced hands in the background should things occur that are just a little too much for the young people to handle themselves.

Brazil Communists Attacking Europe's Displaced Persons

Launch Bitter Campaign Against Importing D.P.'s In Manpower Starved Projects

RIO DE JANEIRO—(INS)—The well-organized Communist propaganda machine in Brazil has launched one of its most bitter campaigns against imported displaced persons for work in manpower-starved Brazilian interior projects.

The Communist propaganda, is double-edged, aimed at alarming both the conservative Brazilian government and also the large bloc of liberal Brazilians who are anti-Communists but who fear fascism and the possible return of another dictatorship to Brazil.

For the purposes of official consumption, the Brazilian Communists hint that they strongly favor the immigration program, because it serves as a simple line of travel for their agents and spies to New York tasks.

On the other hand, the Communists blandly explain that the D.P.'s are for the most part ex-Fascists who would be condemned as war criminals in their native lands, but who are escaping just punishments.

There is indication that the propaganda is taking effect.

fear of spies has caused an attempt to tighten the controls which has seriously slowed movement of much-needed immigrants.

Meanwhile rumors of invasion of Brazil by trained Fascist hordes have implanted a general feeling of distrust of displaced persons.

The International Refugee Organizations office in Rio recently issued a statement to the Brazilian press, in answer to an attack on its program which was made in the United Nations by the Polish delegate. The statement said:

"Some of the countries of Eastern Europe believe that their nationals, found among displaced persons, should be returned to them, since they consider that they offer them better living conditions than do other regions."

HARRISBURG—Governor James H. Duff today approved an increase of $19,000 in the State Highway department allocation for use in the construction of a road in Raccoon Creek Park. The road to be built, at an estimated $104,600, will make the Raccoon Creek recreational area completely accessible to the public.

Patter Of Little Feet In Dormitory Disappearing In Colleges Of Country

PITTSBURGH, — (INS) — The pattering of little feet in the halls of learning gradually is becoming fainter as more and more GI's complete their war-interrupted studies.

But one question seems to have been answered for educators who have been close observers of the progress made by married veterans.

That is: Can a man shoulder the responsibilities of a wife and family and still make a good student? Deans and counselors in Pittsburgh's colleges generally agreed that married veteran-students work harder, get better grades and are more conscientious than other groups.

Huddled together in trailer camps or converted army barracks such students were forced to wrestle with high food prices, cramped living quarters and many other obstacles that would have stopped any other generation of college students.

Switched Roles
Many such students had to make a complete reversal of roles with their wives, such as the student who cleaned house, washed and had dinner ready for his wife every evening when she came home from work.

And the student who had to take all his classes at special hours so that he could stay home and baby-sit while his wife went out to earn their daily bread.

Colleges officials frankly regret losing such students, though they generally agree that the day of the married student is about over.

Most of the real combat veterans will have been graduated by next year, and so far the younger veterans seem to be taking it easy in trying to combine education and marriage.

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind., —(INS)—Two Lawrenceburg, Ind., landlubbers, both nudging 70 years of age, have "retired" to an adventurous life at sea in a home-made sailboat.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wells left their Lawrenceburg home a year ago in a 29-foot ketch which they had spent four years in constructing. Letters keep friends and relatives informed of their travels.

Wells, who is 68, is a disabled World War I veteran and an ex-photographer. His wife, Eula, 65, is a pensioned employee of the Schenley Distillers at Lawrenceburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells cruised down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, from Lawrenceburg to New Orleans, visiting historical places en route.

Swing Into Caribbean
When the craft, propelled only by sails, reached New Orleans, the travelers took on supplies for a trip through the Gulf of Mexico, and across the Caribbean sea, with Panama as their intended destination.

By the time the Lawrenceburg landlubbers sighted a lighthouse off British Honduras, in Central America—their first glimpse of land in many days—they knew they were beyond their depth in nautical know-how. So they swung back toward the Florida coast, and after a month at sea put in at Pensacola.

At last report, the elderly couple still was at Pensacola planning another trip.

Mrs. Wells wrote that "the hardships of the trip at sea were more than offset by the beautiful tropical sunsets."

Best Investment

By TOM K. SMITH
Chairman of the Boatmen's National Bank of St. Louis, Mo.
WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—No better investment opportunity than U. S. savings bonds has ever been offered. Through the payroll savings plan where you work or through the bond-a-month plan where you bank, you can purchase savings bonds with no market risk, and with an average yield of 2.9 per cent for ten years. Again, let me say that no better investment opportunity than U. S. savings bonds has ever been offered.

Suspects Taken Into Custody

Pittsburgh Police Smash Theft Ring Which Had Stolen Truckloads of Merchandise

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police today reported smashing an alleged theft ring they said stole whole truckloads of merchandise at a crack.

Police inspector said 12 suspects were taken into custody yesterday, and three others on Sunday.

Police got on the trail of the suspected thieves when they were called to the home of one of them Sunday to settle a domestic quarrel.

Officers became curious when they found a set of new tires in the kitchen of Andrew Lutaris, of Northside Pittsburgh. Further investigation resulted in the other arrests.

Victims of the thefts were the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Co., which lost about $5,000 worth of goods, and the Western Auto Store, where about $1,000 worth of merchandise was taken.

The suspects included employees or former employees of the two firms, police said, two Pittsburgh plumbers, and a truck driver for another plumbing firm not victimized.

A number of the suspects are accused only of receiving stolen goods.

Bus Strike In Youngstown Now In Seventh Day

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 8.—(INS)—A threatened strike by gasoline truck drivers in Youngstown was delayed pending a meeting today.

Residents of Youngstown, where transportation is already crippled by a week-old bus strike, yesterday swamped gasoline when rumors of a "gasoline strike" spread.

But officials of the Chauffeurs, Teamsters and Helpers Union, Local 377, agreed to meet with representatives of trucking firms today in an effort to work out a wage pattern.

The drivers are now getting $1.25 per hour, and are asking $1.50 per hour.

Although the meeting will affect only about 1,000 drivers in the heavy trucking industry, the wage pattern agreed on would govern another 2,500 members of the local.

A truck strike at this time would further paralyze transportation in "busless" Youngstown.

A strike by drivers of the Youngstown Municipal Railway company was in its seventh day, with both sides admitting they are "as far apart as ever."

However, talks are scheduled to resume soon.

GIFTS CAMPAIGN GREAT SUCCESS

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—The fifth annual "Give a Gift to the Yanks Who Gave" campaign was a whopping success.

Comedian Eddie Cantor, chairman and originator of the drive in 1944, disclosed that in 1948 more than 2,100,000 gifts worth $5,000,000 were distributed to ill and wounded war veterans in the nation's hospitals.

Since 1944 an estimated 8,000,000,000 gifts valued at $20,000,000 have been donated to veterans.

Participating in the annual drive are the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, AMVETS, Disabled American Veterans and the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Baronetcies Await Claim In England

LONDON—(INS)—There are twenty baronetcies awaiting claimants in Great Britain, according to the latest Debrett's, the aristocratic Who's Who, Why and When of Britain.

Should your name be Affleck, Bagot, Kall, Pellow, Poet, Somerville, Stonehouse—to mention only a few of the more unusual names—and the claim that you are a descendant in male line is established, then the baronetcy with its arms and title and privileges may be yours for the asking.

The fees to establish the claims amount to a matter of $500, and the annual excise on the "bearing of arms" another matter of $25 a year. Presto! you become one of the despised, reviled and accursed aristocrats.

A baronetcy doesn't really mean much. The eldest son is allowed the title "Esquire" instead of plain "Mister," and the wife becomes "Lady" and takes precedence over the wife of a mere knight.

A ticket for the Royal enclosure at Ascot races follows as a matter of course and the right for the unmarried daughter to be "presented at Court" is another of the privileges.

A "baronetcy" is not a peerage and doesn't entitle the holder to a seat in the House of Lords, but it is hereditary and therefore passes on to the eldest son at death.

Argentine Voters Look Ahead To '58

BUENOS AIRES—(INS)—With the 1952 presidential elections virtually decided by President Peron's tacit acceptance of a second term, poll-happy Argentines are already looking forward to the 1958 race.

Peronista bosses, to avoid a party split over the 1952 elections, pushed through a constitutional amendment earlier this year enabling presidential re-election for successive terms.

With mass swaying Peron in the Casa Rosada presidential chair until 1958, Argentina political observers saw little likelihood in the Peronista Party becoming a minority group during the next nine years.

Party leaders already are seeking a potential candidate to be groomed for the presidency in 1958 and several factions within the party are jockeying for positions.

Two names overshadow all others: Buenos Aires Province Governor Colonel Domingo A. Mercante and Minister of Transportation Juan F. Castro.

BRITISH LAY CLAIM TO SPEEDIEST SUB

LONDON—(INS)—Following successful trials, details of which are still top secret, British naval designers claim to have perfected the world's fastest submarine.

The successful trials followed maximum underwater speed tests by the Seraph, the Secret Service "cloak and dagger" submarine of World War II.

Seraph, commanded by Lieutenant N. L. A. Jewell, smuggled General Giraud out of Vichy, France; secretly put ashore and re-embarked American General Mark Clark, before the North African invasion, to negotiate with pro-Ally French officers before the landings.

After the war Seraph, originally 715 tons with diesel and electric propulsion and an underwater speed of 10 knots, was reconstructed and streamlined.

Lifts Ceiling
On Enlistments

Ceilings on army enlistments for the month of June have been lifted. It was announced today by First Lt. John W. Sabol, commanding officer, U. S. army and U. S. air force principal recruiting station, room 400 Frew building.

This action was designed to permit a maximum number of high school graduates who are completing their schooling this month, to take advantage of immediate enlistment in the regular army without being placed on a "waiting list" as in the past.

Lt. Sabol then added: "We expect June to be one of the most productive months in the history of volunteer recruiting. The high school graduate, by enlisting in the army immediately following graduation, can commence his career without any interval between his civilian schooling and the many educational opportunities offered by the army. Qualified applicants may even be enlisted directly for army technical schools, thereby insuring their continued education and training for future civilian life."

For further information contact the U. S. army and U. S. air force principal recruiting station, room 400 Frew building, the U. S. army and U. S. air force recruiting station, room 202, Post Office building, or telephone 4745.

Western Union Man Detains Car Thief As He Waits For Answer To Telegram

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—An alert Western Union office manager today was credited for the arrest of a Buffalo, N. Y., man accused of stealing an automobile at Niagara Falls.

Police Chief H. S. Byers said Frank Dorato, 28, was in Franklin County jail waiting New York officials on their charges after Charles Keller, telegraph office manager, detained him as he waited for an answer to a telegram.

Keller said Dorato sent a wire to a Niagara Falls woman for money and waited in the office for an answer. Meanwhile, Keller received a wire notifying him Dorato was a wanted man. He called police and delayed Dorato.

Dorato led officials to the alleged stolen automobile.

Swiss Waging War On All Forgers

GENEVA—(INS)—Geneva criminal police are waging an all-out campaign to crack the source of increased circulation of counterfeit dollars in Switzerland.

They have just arrested three young Romanians who had $500 in counterfeit $5 and $10 notes on them at the time.

Several hundred false American notes already sold have been seized as well, but the exact quantity circulated at Geneva, Lausanne and other Swiss cities is not known.

The trio—Michel Burducia, 23, Elena Dimitriu, 20 and Arsene Papoulian, 23—claim to be "political refugees" who left Romania more than a year ago and passed some time in Hungary.

It was pointed out, however, that they made no attempt to obtain legal classification as refugees, although the International Refugee Organization offices here, in Germany and Austria usually are liberal in granting the necessary refugee documents.

Since the liberation of the Mauthausen camp in Germany, where Heinrich Himmler, aided by deported counterfeiters, operated a false banknote factory, western Europe has been flooded periodically with bogus notes, especially well-imitated dollars.

Raw garbage often contains trichina-infected pork.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS BANQUET
Mothers and daughters and friends of the United Presbyterian church enjoyed a delicious dinner and a program in the church on Thursday evening, June 2. Mrs. Donald Whiting was in charge of the dinner committee and the men of the church served. Following the dinner group singing was led by the program chairman, Mrs. Billie Biddle.

The group went to the church auditorium where Miss Betty Walsh played a piano solo and Miss Josephine Proudfoot sang. Her accompanist was Miss Elizabeth Cooper.

Mrs. Raymond Kulow was introduced as the speaker of the evening. She gave a most interesting address on "The Book of the Ages, Not the Book of the Month". Mrs. Biddle presented handkerchiefs to Mrs. Beattie Anderson, the old mother; Mrs. John Stiver, the mother with the most children, and Mrs. Donald Whiting, who was the youngest mother.

In addition to those already mentioned as being responsible for the success of the evening, recognition was given to Mrs. F. S. Armitage and her committee for the decorations, and to Mrs. Robert Whiting and her committee for the invitations and programs.

MOTHERS' CLUB
Members of the Mothers' club and their families gathered at Roosevelt Park on Monday evening for a picnic. This marked the close of another year of activity for the club. An enjoyable evening was spent with relays and games.

The committee responsible for the success of the affair included Mrs. Donald Wiseman, Mrs. Ed Pope, Mrs. Donald Gibson and Mrs. Merrick Ventresco. The new president, Mrs. Charles Gruenwald, spoke briefly of the club work for next year.

Espionage Outposts Network Provided In Congress Bill

Measure Sent To White House
For Action By President
Truman

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Congress sent to the White House on Tuesday a "hush-hush" bill empowering the Central Intelligence Agency to establish a worldwide cloak-and-dagger net work of espionage outposts.

The legislation was passed after the House approved Senate amendments broadening the authority of the intelligence agency to maintain an international spy system, the details of which are top secret. House passage came on a standing vote with the only dissent registered by Rep. Marcantonio (A-L) N. Y.

The measure permits admission to the United States 100 alien "informers" annually. These agents will not be required to go through normal immigration channels.

However, the attorney general, the immigration commissioner and the director of the intelligence agency must pass upon the admission of the individuals brought to America to aid the CIA.

The wife of James A. Garfield, Lucretia Rudolph, was born in 1832, and died in 1918. She and Garfield were schoolmates and she became his wife when he was president of the Electric Institute in Hiram, O. ARRANGEMENT OF WEDDING PARTY AT ALTAR

"At a formal church wedding with four bridesmaids and four ushers, what is the proper arrangement at the altar? That is, who stands, where, etc., etc."

Answer: When the bride party reaches the altar steps, the ushers separate. Half go to the right and half to the left. The bridesmaids do likewise, passing in front of the ushers. Thus, in a group of twelve, three bridesmaids are placed behind three bridesmaids at the right and left of the chancel gate. The flower girls usually stand one on each side near the head of the aisle. If the bride prefers, she may place one at the left and a little behind the maid-of-honor and one at the right and a little behind the best man. The ring bearer (if any) should stand to the right of the best man that there may be no delay in finding the ring.

The bridegroom, best man and clergyman have advanced to the rail at the first note of the wedding march. The bridegroom comes to meet his bride, who takes her hand from her father's arm, transfers her bouquet from her right to her left hand, and gives her right hand to the bridegroom who puts it through his left arm and escorts her to the altar.

As they face the clergyman at the altar, the bride should stand to the left of the groom, the best man to his right, the maid-of-honor to the bride's left.

Question: Must I tip the bellboy who pages me in a hotel? If so, how much?

Answer: Yes . . . from ten to twenty-five cents depending upon the hotel.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

In Australia all men between the ages of 18 and 45 must register for military training.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

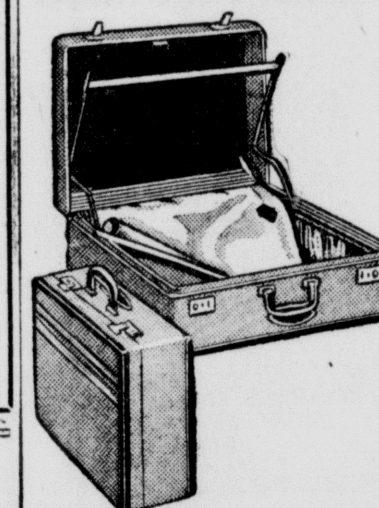

Bernard Baruch tells the story about the family up in Rochester that had the same cook for 20 years (those were the days!) While she was off on a holiday, her employers decided to give her a pleasant surprise. They had her room completely refurnished and redecorated. The cook was surprised, all right. It developed that her life savings—$12,000 in cash—had been hidden in her old mattress.

By great good fortune, the mattress was recovered, and her nest egg found intact. Her employers upbraided her for her medieval habits, and persuaded her with the greatest difficulty to deposit her $12,000 in a local bank. Then, bingo! The market collapsed, the bank closed, and the family was left without a penny. "What can I say?" the white-faced husband told the cook. "This is all our fault, and if it's the last thing I do, I'm going to make good on that $12,000 I lost for you."

"Don't give it another thought," said the cook. "I just deposited that money in the bank to make you happy. I drew it out again 15 minutes later."

SHERWIN-WILLIAMS PAINTS

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, June 8. — A stroll down memory lane with dangerous Dan Duryea is first cousin to a midnight promenade through the rogues' gallery.

Off screen the actor is a quiet, happily-married family fellow. But he shivers like a hula-hula dancer in a blizzard everytime he mulls over the long list of assorted hoodlums he has portrayed in pictures.

His latest assignment in "Man-handled," the new Paramount mystery shocker, finds Daniel playing a small-time crook who makes life utterly unbearable for Miss Dottie Lamour.

Started Years Ago
Duryea's predilection for the specie of role that have made him a man of distinction got underway on the Broadway stage in a Guthrie McClintic opus entitled "Missouri Legend."

"In that one," recalled the former advertising executive, "I appeared as Bob Ford, the gent who bumped off Jesse James. Ford was pretty well-known as the

"Dirty-little-coward-who-shot - Mr. Howard. Howard, of course, was the handle James went under during his assorted sorties into towns."

Dan next was viewed as an irresponsible, double-dealing son in "The Little Foxes." Then Hollywood latched onto him to make with the same part in the film version of the play.

Provoke Disdain
Since his migration to movie-land, Duryea, with two exceptions, has done everything in his power to provoke disdain of theater audiences.

He was a small-time gangster in "Ball of Fire," a rum-dumb murderer in "Black Angel," and a death-dealing highwayman in "Black Bar." Dapper Daniel played a woman-beating heel in "Scarlet Street." In "Mrs. Parkington" he portrayed a weakling son who detested his own old man.

(Take a big breath.)
He was the toughest killer in the west in "Along Came Jones," a blackmailer in "Woman in the Window," a sniveling coward in "Valley of Decision," the brutal leader of the Nazi underground in "Ministry of Fear"; a sarcastic, unlikable reporter in "Pride of the Yankees"; a grasping father in "Another Part of the Forest"; leader of a sinister blackmail ring in "Larceny"; mastermind of a ruthless armored car robbery in "Crisis Cross"; and a chiseling crook in "To Late For Tears."

Gentleman Twice
"Matter of fact," Duryea commented, "I can recall only two movies in which I played nice guys."

I appeared as a pleasant young Brooklyn boy in "Sahara," and I was an agreeable sort of fellow in "White Tie and Tails."

After that pair of flickers were released, he said, sadly, angry fans wrote carloads of mail to the studio demanding that Dan stop playing such good-natured characters.

Proposed New Detention Home Gets Green Light From June Grand Jury

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Plans for a new detention home for Lawrence county have been approved by the June grand jury.

County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., presented the plans to the grand jury, explaining what the county commissioners wished to do and the jury gave the idea the green light.

With the grand jury approval it is likely the commissioners will now have the plans completed in detail, and later on, advertise for bids.

The jury returned one not a true bill and 12 true bills out of a list of bills of indictments presented for action by District Attorney LeRoy K. Donaldson. There is not a major case in the list, although robbery is charged in two of them.

Sheriff Frank L. Coen has a heavy list of guests at the present time. Ordinarily the jail has eight or ten customers but on Tuesday morning there were 39 guests on the roll.

HARRISBURG—The work of the Public Service Institute in maintaining training programs for 40,000 assessors, borough officers, building custodians, firemen, policemen, correctional workers, and other public officials is described in a ten-year report of the Public Service Institute, released today by Dr. Francis B. Toonerville Folks:—

BY FONTAINE FOX

IN THE OPEN

The big-mouthed bass had staked out a claim in the clear shallows at the edge of the reservoir. He cruised about this watery domain with a constant eye out for all finny interlopers. Now and then a smaller bass would come nosing along, minding his own business, only to face a sudden savage onslaught and flee for his life before the gaping jaws of the foot-long warder.

I suppose the straw bass was patrolling his spawn, hidden somewhere in a small patch of water-just off-shore. There was no evidence of a nesting basin, such as the sunfish engineers, but somewhere out there his new family was on its way, and driven by timeless instinct he was protecting it, with his life if need be. Two gunners, hunting turtles, were watching him when I stopped by. He paid no attention to the three of us, but kept up that constant nervous cruising which makes him an easy victim of the poacher during the spawning season.

Bluegills Lured Out
The sun had warmed the shallows and had lured the bluegills from the depths to enjoy an afternoon of laziness about. Almost anywhere along the shoreline a pebble tossed out brought a half-dozen of these little fellows on the double-quick to investigate.

Although an aspen or two by the water's edge were trembling and fluttering at a great rate there was hardly a breath of air stirring, and the water lay almost mirror-still. I followed along the shoreline, flushing a green heron out of a clump of willows, and soaring up a spotted sandpiper and a noisy kildeer. High bush blackberries were staging a great flower show in the tangles and I noted good indications for a bumper crop of raspberries.

Near the head of the dam I found a seat close against the bank and settled down to see what I could see. A green tiger beetle pursued his predatory tactics along the bit of shale beach at my feet. Dragonflies and damselflies in great variety zoomed over the flats. The lazy drone of countless flying "bugs" milling about in the hot humid air lay like a blanket of unreal sound across the weedy inlet.

Suddenly I noted a fat grizzled groundhog coming down to the shore directly across from me. I swung the glasses on him and watched his confident bear-like swagger as he rolled along through the weed growth. I thought he was coming down for a drink but he waded right in and started swimming across, straight toward me.

Pull Up For Check-Up
At the halfway mark, still some fifty feet out, he pulled up, in some debris for a check-up. The coast seemed clear and he plunged in again, veering off at a slight tangent which brought him to the bank about twenty feet to my right. I watched him scramble out on shore, shake himself like a dog and then disappear in the heavy growth on the bank. Soon the commotion he made in the timber behind me sounded like a team of horses trampling about.

The little Acadian flycatcher has found a summer home to his liking in the timber by this reservoir. He is partial to the beech groves which have worked their way across the hillside. His explosive call—"spit-chee!"—jumps out at intervals like an exclamation point in the dignified late spring music of his feathered companions in the woodland.

I was plodding back toward the breast of the dam when I became aware of a high pitched lisping sort of sound in the trees overhead. It was a monotonous insect-like murmuring somewhat like the sibilant escape of air from a toy balloon in high musical register.

Can Miss Beautiful Sight
It is quite easy to pass up this whispering music and miss the sight of one of our most beautiful birds, for this treetop lisper is the only vocal utterance of the gorgeous cedar waxwing. I stopped and visited with these fellows as they spent a social time in the treetops. The band of yellow across the end of the tail is a distinctive field mark. Soon they tired of my company and headed off elsewhere in a mass flight.

The countryman suddenly finds himself once more knee-deep in June, "when every clod feels a stir of might," and notes the solid masses of shade in the timberlands. Now the flower show moves from the wooded ravines into the more open bog-lands and the old-field fencerows.

The countryside arrives at full fresh beauty in June. Now the trees are again clothed and in their right minds, the clover blooms in the meadow and the wild strawberry pushes its tempting fruit ever closer to the footpath. The countryman yearns to close his desk and say with the Hoosier poet, "June wants me, and I'm to spare!"

Sixth Grade Party At Rose Ave. School

Mothers Join In Graduation Program Of Class Tuesday At East Side School

Sixth graders of the Rose Avenue grade school, who are finishing their elementary education this week, invited their mothers to share with them a few of the remaining hours of their sixth grade careers on Tuesday afternoon. An especially fine tureen dinner planned by the pupils was enjoyed during the afternoon and followed by a pupil and teacher participation program.

The dinner and program taking place in the school gymnasium which was decorated in the class colors, orchid and green was enjoyed by approximately 100. School principal, John Cornelius and Mrs. Cornelius were special guests. A cake bearing the class colors and marked with "Sixth Graders" was made for the occasion by Zeta Graziani, one of the class members.

The program got under way with a Scripture reading by June Reed with Mrs. Frank Reed offering the invocation. Miss Marie G. McElroy greeted the pupils and their mothers. Following introduction of the mothers by their son or daughter, Mr. Cornelius spoke briefly. Faith of Our Mothers was sung by the group and followed by a poem, "My First Day At School" given by Jean Hennon and Patty Gettis.

Betty Lou Marian, Marilee Klein, Dolores Pazach, Elsie Eakin, Gloria Chiurazzi, Patty James, Georgeann Kopsky, Helen Georgiadis, Kay Kopsis, Mildred Cicca, Ann Richards and Marcello Cicco, all sang "Mother". A piano solo was also presented by Helen Georgiadis with Philip Julian giving an interesting card trick. Orchids to mother were presented by Bob Good and Dale Barbour. Jean Hennon played "Falling Stars" on the piano. Mrs. Mildred Smith read an effective poem with Judy

McDermott following with a tap dance. Closing the program, the school orchestra composed of Leslie George, William Carr, Jon Carroll, Joe Sciegio, Zeta Graziani and Bennie Augustine, played several numbers. The student composed song was sung.

Elizabeth Taylor To Marry Son Of Former Ambassador

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 8.—(INS)—Close friends expressed belief today that Screen Star Elizabeth Taylor will marry the son of a former ambassador to Brazil after she graduates from high school next spring.

Miss Taylor's engagement to William D. Pawley, Jr., was announced yesterday at Miami Beach, but no wedding date was set.

Mrs. Francis Taylor, Elizabeth's mother, indicated the possible 1950 date of the wedding when she pointed out that her daughter will not finish at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayers' high school until next spring.

Miss Taylor and her mother are guests at the Pawley home in Miami Beach.

The pretty brunette movie actress met young Pawley last winter at a party in Miami Beach. At that time, there were rumors that Elizabeth was engaged to Glenn Davis, the backfield star of the Army's football team.

Yesterday, however, Mrs. Taylor denied that her daughter ever was engaged to Davis. She said: "Like any young girl, she wore her gold football, but she was not engaged to him."

To meet the demands of thousands of communities engaged in insect eradication campaigns in the United States, some 50,000,000 pest-destroying insects are shipped every year from California by rail and air express to every corner of the country, according to Railway Express.

"Assignment; America"

By INEZ ROBB

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
(Distributed by International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 8.—I will kindly thank the Greater New York Safety Council to keep its big nose out of any romantic interludes in my life.

The council has just issued a gloomy ukase warning any romantically inclined bridegroom, determined to lift his bride over the new threshold in traditional manner, that he can do so in safety if he marries a midget.

In a melancholy brochure on what every bridegroom should know, the council gives detailed instructions on the safe method of hoisting the bride over the threshold if the bridegroom is fool enough to persist in pitting his future health and well-being in such a gesture.

The council's recommendations take off with the following sentence: "One easy lesson on how to lift a bride without straining yourself" and ends up with the romantic information that the instructions are equally applicable to hoisting barrels.

Council-Approved Way
The council-approved way to carry the girl over the threshold (although it is obvious that the council favors a good swift shove or a hat-pin properly applied) is as follows, and I quote:

"The correct way to lift an object (that would be the bride, I take it) is to bend the knees, keep the body upright, take a firm grip on the object to be lifted and push forward with the leg muscles. The strain should be on the lifter's legs, not on his back.

"Do not try to lift too much weight," the council concludes, in a final disapproving admonition.

That last sentence is a very techy bit of advice. Should a bridegroom, having pasted the council's instructions in his hat, flash them at the threshold on a bride weighing 110, 125 or 160 pounds?

What is the legal limit on brides? Does a bridegroom carry five-foot-two with eyes of blue and just push the five-foot-eleven with eyes on heaven?

It seemed to be that these instructions left too much up to the indiscretion of the groom, a man beset by many troublesome problems in the first flush of matrimony.

So I tracked down Paul F. Strickler, executive vice-president of the Greater New York Safety Council, and asked him to be explicit.

That's exactly what he was. And no doubt you will be as amazed as I to know that it is unsafe for any bridegroom to boost across the threshold any bride weighing in excess of 75 pounds.

Mr. Strickler was adamant in his insistence that security standards recommended by safety engineers forbid a bride to lift more than 50 pounds across the threshold and restricts bridegrooms to 75 pounds.

Matrimony is for midgets yet! Even if the lifter remembers to keep the body upright and put the strain on the legs, it is inadvisable for a woman to lift a bridegroom or a barrel weighing in excess of 50 pounds. A gent should stick to 75 pounds in either brides or barrels, Mr. Strickler insisted.

May Revive Draft If No Pay Raise
'Socialistic' Pay May Cause Draft To Be Revived In Congress Fails To Give Raise

WASHINGTON, June 8.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, army personnel chief, declared that the draft may have to be revived if Congress fails to give the armed services a pay raise.

The draft has been suspended since January, but is still on the statute books and can be invoked at any time. Inductions have not been made because the armed services' strength has been kept up by voluntary enlistment.

Dahlquist testified before a House Armed Services subcommittee holding hearings on a new pay bill, a substitute for the one rejected by the House last month.

The general said in reply to questions that enlisted men are disgruntled over the existing "socialistic" pay system under which a private with a large family receives more pay than a sergeant without dependents.

Rep. Elston (R) Ohio, asked: "Would you say it may be necessary to resort again to the draft if the system is not revised?" Dahlquist replied: "That is correct."

West Point Class Graduates Tuesday

Address To Class Is Made By Acting Army Secretary Gray

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 8. (INS)—Acting Army Secretary Gray told graduating West Point cadets Tuesday that they face stiff competition for their posts of leadership in a world struggle against "nihilism".

Gray spoke at U. S. Military Academy commencement exercises in which 350 army and 229 air force cadets were awarded commissions as second lieutenants.

The acting secretary pointed out that less than 10 per cent of the U. S. officers corps is now from West Point—as compared to 45 per cent from West Point before the war. He continued:

"In a troubled world in which the fruits of victory have not been peace and stability, West Point cannot supply the demand.

"While we have not departed as a matter of principle and policy from the sound American tradition of a smaller regular establishment, to be augmented by trained citizen soldiers in time of emergency, nevertheless the inconsistency of the times dictates the largest peacetime army we have ever experienced.

"The greater challenge—and as a result the greater opportunity—is yours."

Gray declared that the issue before the world is "whether we will allow the forces of a creeping and at times perhaps an imperceptible nihilism to consume and destroy the principles which made our country great."

The first railroad sleeping-car ever constructed in the world was a rebuilt day-coach which ran between Harrisburg and Chambersburg in 1836. This car was really a bunkhouse on wheels, lit by candles and provided with the modern convenience of one wash basin.

Man Killed By High Voltage Wire

Man Electrocuted In An Attempt To Save Fellow Worker; Two Others Escape Injury

YORK, Pa., June 8.—(INS)—A 33-year-old York Glass company employee was electrocuted Tuesday in an attempt to save a fellow worker.

Killed almost instantly when 2,300 volts smashed through his body was William F. Little, according to Coroner Lester J. Sell. Two other men escaped injury.

Little had attempted to release William H. Hibner, 32, from a steel scaffold which had contacted a high power line.

Hibner, taken to York General hospital in a critical condition, was standing on cement and was unable to release his grip as the electricity coursed through his body. Little, standing on the ground, was electrocuted when he touched Hibner.

The crew, employed by a York Glass company, was erecting a sign in front of a motor sales firm when the scaffold tilted and touched the power line.

Lynn Winfield, 44, the foreman, and Charles J. Proctor, 36, were knocked from the scaffold by the impact and escaped harm.

Assessments In
New Wilmington
To Be Equalized

Survey Of Tax Assessment Situation Is To Be Made During Summer

NEW WILMINGTON, June 8—Local property owners may expect an increase in their assessments for the present year as the result of a survey to be undertaken this summer.

The solons went on record Monday evening as approving any system of assessment which will equalize the assessments made by other county assessment bodies.

The present assessment is approximately 27 per cent of market value with an eight mills rate of tax.

The tax situation is uppermost in the minds of the councilmen since the boro is now borrowing money for current expenses. Heavy demands for street improvements have impoverished the treasury. It is hoped that tax receipts will put the boro's books in the black by July.

The possibility of hiring a clerk to work three or four hours a day at the boro building to handle all financial matters was discussed. Councilman Herb Smith, who made the suggestion, argued the need of a centralized office where residents could transact business without making three or four calls. The proposal received some support but no action was taken. Councilman George Brown announced that a 40-foot ladder of aluminum has been ordered for the fire department. Joseph Francis, local real estate dealer, asked that North Lincoln avenue be ordained. No action was taken.

Little Courtesies
give life a big "lift"

On party-line telephones, too, it pays to take the lead in courtesy. Your party-line neighbors appreciate it... and they'll return your favors in kind!

FOR EXAMPLE: it's courteous to hang up gently when you find the line in use, and give the other person a few minutes to finish his call before trying again. It's courteous, too, when you are talking on the line and realize your neighbor is waiting to make a call, to free the line reasonably soon.

These two little courtesies pay big dividends.

Trial Is Started In Auto Fatalities

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—The trial of Robert L. Qualters, deputy official of the Allegheny County Housing Authority, on three charges involuntary manslaughter was scheduled to get underway today.

Qualters, 41, of Clairton, was involved in an automobile accident last October in which three persons died and a fourth was injured.

An additional charge of drunken driving was filed against Qualters after a police officer reported he "could smell liquor" on his breath. Qualters was driving a housing authority car at the time. Qualters and the authority had been named defendants in damage suits totaling $650,000.

Those who died of injuries received in the accident were Mrs. Mary Jarvis, 53, and her brother, C. Ray Wilson, 60, both of Pittsburgh, and their aunt, Mrs. Vivian Wilson, of Washington, D. C.

German Court To Try Ilse Koch

MUNICH, June 8.—(INS)—The Bavarian Justice Ministry confirmed today that Ilse Koch will be tried by a German criminal court at Augsburg as soon as an investigation of charges against her are completed.

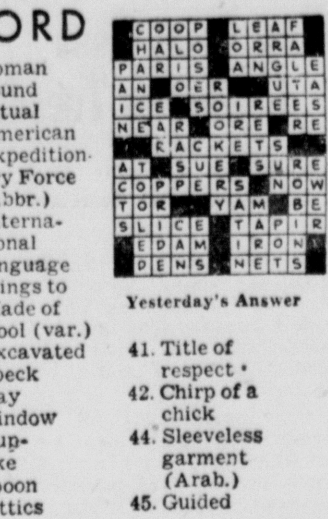

The notorious "Witch of Buchenwald" will be charged with murdering and assaulting German nationals in the concentration camp run by her husband.

King Alfred of England, generally regarded as the wisest and greatest of all English kings, is also affectionally remembered as the father of his country. "Who listened to all complaints, who redressed all wrongs, the philosopher who raised up a barbarous age toward the height of his own mind and founded the civilization of England."

What was probably the first railroad telegraph in America was a line, still operated by the Reading company, which went into use on May 10, 1847, between Philadelphia and Reading.

Goose Tatum Has 84-Inch Reach

Standing Six Feet Three, He's Perfect Target For Infielders

Reece (Goose) Tatum, flashy first baseman of the Indianapolis Clowns will be one of the star performers when the Negro American League "showmen" face the City League's All-Stars June 15 at P. J. Flaherty Memorial Field. The game will begin at 8:15 p. m. and indications, according to ticket sales, point to a mammoth crowd packing the field.

Tatum has become one of the most famous players in the NAL circuit and rates second only to aged Satchel Paige, now with the Cleveland Indians, as a prime favorite. Big league scouts are watching him and he may be found in the major circuit next season.

Excels Willard's Reach
He has an arm span of 84 inches, the longest of any athlete, which makes it possible for him to do many things around first base which a player with an ordinary reach couldn't do. Joe Louis has a reach of 76 inches and the arms of Jack Johnson were only 74 inches. Jess Willard had an 83 1/2 inch reach.

Tatum's height makes him a perfect target for throws from the infield. He stands six feet three and balances the scales at 192 pounds. His reach is nine full inches in excess to his height.

During wintry months he is a standout performer with the original Harlem basketball club, and his uncanny accuracy with the basketball matches his stellar baseball play.

Hopp Will Hop Back To Pirates, Trade Cancelled

Branch Rickey Agrees To Take Rackley Back, Kinney Protests

PITTSBURGH, June 8.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh-Brooklyn trade of Johnny Hopp and cash for Marvin Rackley was canceled Tuesday.

The deal, completed several weeks ago with the Pirates reportedly giving the Dodgers some $25,000 to boot, was called off because Rackley reported to the Bucs with a sore arm.

The cancellation followed a protest by Pittsburgh officials, who claimed they were not aware of Rackley's ailment when the trade was arranged.

The re-trade is effective immediately.

Lanier Asks For Salary Of $11,000

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—(INS)—The traditional February-March headache of major league baseball magnates—player contracts—is back for the St. Louis Cardinals, four months late.

President Fred M. Saigh, Jr., found the spring problem a summer menace when he talked long distance with Max Lanier, one of the reinstated Mexican league jumpers.

Lanier, now playing semi-pro baseball with a Drummondville, Quebec, team, told Saigh yesterday he would return to the Cardinals only if his 1946 contract, calling for $11,000 is revived.

PLAY POSTPONED GAME
The East Side Shamrocks will play the DeCarbo Bombers tonight at Rose avenue at 6 o'clock in a postponed city league softball game. Bob Miller the hard-hitting Shamrocks third baseman is celebrating his birthday today and the "Rocks" would like to win this one for him. Friday the Shamrocks play the National Guards in another postponed loop game at Rose avenue also.

BOLANOS WINS
LOS ANGELES, June 8.—(INS)—Enrique Bolanos, 134 1/2, Los Angeles, spent a rough ten rounds at Los Angeles Olympic auditorium last night before eeking out a split decision over Baby Face Jones, 136 1/2, Detroit, Mich.

Jones, a southpaw slugger, had Bolanos baffled in the early rounds but Enrique came back in the fight to build up his slim margin of victory.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

STREAMS are so low trout fishing is poor, hence New Castle anglers are plying their skill for Crappies at Pymatuning Lake and Chenel Cats at Elk Creek, Erie. . . Friends will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Fair, wife of Constable Andy Fair, First Ward, is suffering from a stroke, and is in the New Castle hospital. . . Ernie Moore, East Washington street gasoline service operator, and a booster of every worthwhile movement, is back on the job after being in the Jameson Memorial hospital. . . A hot race is on between City Baseball league players to "make" the All-Stars who play the Indianapolis Clowns, June 15 night. The ballots will be tabulated by Here & There, June 9 night, at Carm DeLeon's shop, West Washington street. . . West Pittsburg, Universal (1948 flag-winners) Ecclesiastes, and Lawrence Indies are bunched for the leadership of the league. . . Ecclesiastes and Ryantown played a classic Monday evening at Union Township high school field. Games of that kind are bound to attract a baseball clientele. . . Civics and Ryantown clash this evening at Union high field. . . Bill Semler has sent to Philadelphia for an extra batch of the Veteran Boxer, containing fistic yarns by Here & There.

The principals have not yet been named. . . Farrell Boosters are holding weekly, amateur fights. . . Pittsburgh promoters are hopeful of mating Lee Sala and Tommy Yarosz. The latter was defeated recently in Honolulu by a chap named Olsen which shed some of the lustre of Yarosz victory over Dave Sands. . . A Detroit boxing physician has pronounced Jake LaMotta in fine physical condition for his joust with Marcel Cerdan, the middleweight championship being the diadem sought. . . With the Louis promotion of Charles vs Walcott in Chicago, it appears that New York has fallen as the capital of the Pugilistic world. . . The Cerdan fight is expected to outdraw the Charles bout. . . Frank Sargent, the former OCD co-ordinator, but whose regular duty is that of a fireman, is stationed at the Cherry street station-house.

Among the Indianapolis-Clowns who play the All-Stars June 15 night, is Manuel Godinez of Cuba. He is a pitcher with a blazing fast ball that makes him more effective beneath the arcs. . . Every time the Frank's Grille loses, Tom Frank whose hair has turned silvery, has near palpitation of the heart. He's a rabid fan. . . Paul Minner of the Brooklyn Dodgers pitching staff, stands six feet five inches. Jess Willard, ex-heavyweight boxing champion, was only one inch taller. . . Jake Perelman who takes time off from business to fish has an ailing shoulder, which will prevent him fly-casting for trout. . . Reports say Adolf Lang has made a beauty spot of his cottage at Beverly Lake. Al Sfar, formerly of this city, now of Sharon, fished with Lang for lake trout, recently. . . Six home runs in the City League on one day recently, was a record for the circuit. Carm DeLeon, Jr., not yet 18, they say, looks like a promising ball player.

White Favors Abatement Plan

During council session held this morning in city hall, Solicitor R. M. White told council that he has found from experience that acceptance of the abatement tax plan has proved beneficial to the city.

Finance Director Albert Hoyland corroborated White's opinion.

The state at the last session adopted a law providing for an abatement tax payment plan.

Under its provisions back taxes may be paid at face, with penalties and interest exempted.

The city has until June 21 to accept the plan.

Before making a final recommendation to council, Solicitor White is awaiting a copy of the new state law from Harrisburg.

New Castle Plays Uniontown Here Tonight, Erie Wins 7-6

Ellwood Will Honor Bilo With Presents

Fighting for sixth place in the Mid-Atlantic standing, the New Castle Nats will open an important two-game series with the Uniontown Coal Barons at Flaherty Memorial Field tonight, at 8 p. m.

Tonight has been designated as "Eugene Bilo Night" by the Ellwood City friends and admirers of the young Nats outfielder, and several hundred from Ellwood City, will be in the stands to honor Bilo, and present him with a number of gifts.

Nats Are Slugging

The Nats winners of four of their last five games, have started to slug the ball hard, and have totaled 58 hits in their last four games for an average of 14.2 per game which will win a lot of ball games if the boys can keep it up.

Whether or not the injured heavy hitting Herman Kiel gets back into the lineup tonight is problematical. Chances are that he won't be able to enter the game after suffering facial and leg injuries in Erie Monday night, as he and Reed Maier, the New Castle shortstop collided chasing a Texas leaguer.

Koeppen To Pitch

Two victories over Uniontown will put the Nats right into the sixth place slot, a few percentage points ahead of the Barons, and not too far out of fifth place should Oil City fold up to Youngstown.

Manager Billy Mongiello has nominated Art Koeppen a big right-hander to face the Uniontownians tonight. Koeppen was with the Johnstown club last year and had a 10 and 8 record.

Uniontown won the first series played here this year two out of three and the Nats are seeking a little revenge tonight. In six games with Uniontown so far this year the Barons have won four, the Nats two.

In the event of good weather tonight Flaherty Field will see the biggest crowd since opening night as the Ellwood City fans converge to honor "the home town" boy.

SAILORS RALLY IN NINTH

(Special to The News)

ERIE, Pa., June 8—New Castle's four-game winning streak in the Middle Atlantic League was snapped here last night, when the Erie Sailors uncorked a three-run rally in the ninth inning, for a 7-6 victory.

The victory also terminated a three-game Erie losing streak, and also gave it a 5-2 edge over the Nats for the season.

Use Four Pitchers

New Castle used four twirlers in an effort to halt the Sailors and the victim was a chap who pitched to just one batter. That was Mike Giardullo.

Herb Churchill opened for the Nats but gave way to Cook in the sixth. The latter went out in favor of Giardullo in the ninth and the veteran Franke Wagner finished. Erie headed into the final chapter trailing by two runs, and the outlook became even darker when the first man, Ray Berns, skied out to left.

Things Happen

But Dick Jok worked Cook for a pass and Harry Musselman singled into left. Here Giardullo made his entrance. He promptly cut loose with a wild pitch and walked Max Davidson to load the sacks. That put the winning run on the plate, and, when it finally came home, the stigma of defeat was tagged onto Giardullo.

Red-Hot Cards Keep On Winning, Phils Top Bucs

Dodgers Whip Cubs To Keep Lead, Cards Closing In, Indians Outlast Nats

By LES KONKIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 8—(INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals, currently in the throes of the greatest winning rampage of the major leagues this season won their 13th game in the last 15 starts at the Polo Grounds last night, taking the opener of the Giant series, 3-0, in a manner that had 45,000 impressed witnesses harking back to the pre-war Cards for an adequate comparison. Not quite the same, of course. Not as good. Not as young.

What definitely the team of the hour in baseball—in a second-place tie today, just a half-game back of the fleeing Dodgers. The latter, meanwhile, stayed on top of the pace by beating the Cubs by daylight, 7-1, the result of Preacher Roe's six-hitter and a 13-hit attack on Dutch Leonard and a pair of successors.

The Braves beat the Reds in the ninth last night, 6-5, to share the Cardinals' perch on the second rung.

PHILS BEAT BUCS

The Phillies beat the Pirates by the same score, 6-5, counter-rallying twice in the eighth and ninth. Reliever Murry Dickson tripled and scored via a squeeze-play to break a 4-4 tie in the first half of the ninth.

In the American league, the Tigers made the most notable profit of the day, beating the Yankees, 5-2, to gain a full game on the leaders.

INDIANS ON WARPATH

The reeling Red Sox went down before Red Embree and the Browns, 6-2, to sink into the second division.

The revived Athletics edged back into the first four with a 7-4 decision in Chicago.

The Senators held third place by a half-game, though beaten in a 13-11 brannigan by the champion Indians at Cleveland.

A $5,000 belt of jewels and leather will be given to the winner of the Jake Lamotta, Marcel Cerdan championship bout June 15.

RAZZANO GETS THREE HITS

First baseman Razzano got three hits and Carlikito, second baseman of the Universals joined the "hit a home run" club when Universals defeated Ecclesians club 10-6 yesterday. Houston and Waters pitched for the U's while Orlando and Barbato pitched for the losers. Evenski and Rainey of the U's poled doubles. Janacena hit a triple. Seven errors were made.

DEFEATS ST. MARGARET

Smiley relieved Noga in the second inning and pitched such ball St. Margaret was defeated by the league-leaders, West Pittsburg, 14-6, yesterday. St. Margaret got only eight hits to 11 for the loop leaders. Palumbo and Bulisco poled doubles. With one out, one run in and a runner on third, Umpire Conti called the game in the sixth inning with West Pittsburg batting. He blamed St. Margaret for delaying the game.

TWO HOME RUNS

R. Nelson of Dewey and J. McCullough of Croton joined the "I hit a home run" when Croton vanquished Dewey 9-6 yesterday in a 19-hit game marred by five errors. Apoceli of Croton hit a triple and Alexander and Owoc got a double. Three double plays were pulled. Majors and Memo engaged in a hurling duel, both being relievers. Memo fanned seven and Majors five. Memo allowed six hits and Majors five. Both issued three free trips.

UMPIRE FORFEITS GAME

Umpire forfeited a game between Ryantown and the Lawrence Indies to the Indies yesterday, claiming that Ryantown was using an ineligible player. Ryantown was batting in the first, and ahead 1-0. There will be a meeting this evening to determine the umpire's right to forfeit a game for this reason, it being believed that if such was the case, it is a function of the commission. The ejection of Logue in a recent game and other incidents of that game will be aired.

PONTIACS MEET TIGERS TONIGHT

Red Pontiacs will play the Oakland Tigers tonight at Chamura Field. Game time is six o'clock. These softball teams have played two games so far this season. The Pontiacs beat the Tigers 7-5 in the first encounter and the other contest was called because of darkness with the score knotted 3-3.

THIRD U. P. WINS

A big, more experienced Third U. P. softball team had its own way last night in trimming a sporting bunch of First Methodist youngsters in a Church league tilt 20 to 2 at Laurel field. Galano, Crane and Robinson were the heavy hitters. B. Jones was the losing pitcher and Weisbaker the winner.

OPTIMISTS WILL ATTEND GAME

Members of the New Castle Optimist club will attend the New Castle-Uniontown game Thursday, their regular meeting night, in a body, it was revealed today by President Carl Anderson.

All members of the Optimist club are to meet at Pearsalls on Falls street at 7:30 o'clock and go to P. J. Flaherty Memorial Field to root for the Nats.

It is highly problematical that other organizations from New Castle will follow the lead of the Optimists and arrange group attendances.

Chicago Giants Defeat Buckeyes Here Tuesday 14-2

Cold Weather Keeps Crowd At Home, Giants Seek Game With All-Stars Here

It was more like football weather last night at Flaherty Memorial Field as the Chicago American Giants defeated the Cleveland Buckeyes 14 to 2 before a small crowd.

With no crowd present the boys did not extend themselves very much. It was a regular American Negro league game. The Giants have asked for a date here later this month or the first week in July with a local All-Star team.

The National Baseball congress has transferred the site of the 14th Pennsylvania State Semi-Pro Tournament from Fredericksburg to Manhall.

Philadelphia Stars Play Universals Here Friday

The baseball fans of this vicinity will be treated to one of the best games of the season Friday, June 10, when the famous Philadelphia Stars meet the strong Universal A. A. of the City League at 8 p. m.

The Stars led by the all-time Negro great, Oscar Charleston, who appeared many times in New Castle with the Homestead Grays and the Pittsburgh Crawfords, currently are in second place in the American Negro League. A member of the Negro National League last year the Stars are an early choice of many to cop the toga this year.

Great Combination

In Bus Clarkson and Marv Williams the Philadelphia aggregation has one of the best in baseball. Williams was just recently reinstated in the league, having performed last year in the Mexican League, and Clarkson, who boasts a lifetime batting average of .340, gives power and defense to burn.

Bill Cash who has made the All Star game twice heads the catching department and is doing his splendid job as usual.

This game should help solve the old question of how good is the Universal. Last year the "Pottery" boys copped 32 straight games and won the championship of the league. Loaded with talent they are picked by many to repeat again this year.

Universals "Up"

Manager "Huck" Davies has always been able to get the team up for important games as was witnessed in Youngstown last year in the NABF tournament when against the cream of the amateur crop the Universals reached the quarter finals, bowing out to the strong Cleveland and Bartunek, champs two years in a row.

One thing certain the fans will see a whale of a game and the Stars better look out as an upset could easily happen.

Tickets for the game will go for $1 and no seats reserved. Better plan to come out and give the local boys your support.
